3 POWDER PLANTS BLOW UP, 13 KILLED

U. S. Probes Series of Blasts

Death and destruction visited widely separated United States plants manufacturing or dealing with explosives today. In addition, fire swept a National Guard armory in the South and sabotage was suspected at a West Coast shipyard. U. S. agents immediately began investigations. The incidents:

WOODBIDGE, N. J.—Explosion wrecked unit of United Railway Signal Co. plant killing seven.

NEW CASTLE, Pa.—Three killed in explosion that destroyed the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corp.

ALLENTOWN, Pa.—Three killed in blast of undetermined origin at Trojan Powder Co. plant.

ATLANTA—Fire damaged drill rooms of 179th field artillery in city auditorium.

SEATTLE—Sabotage suspected at Todd Shipyard where emery dust and ground glass were found in precision machinery.

HITLER, MOLOTOFF CONFER

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 12 (INS)—Expectation that Soviet Russia might enter the European war as a result of today's historic conference between Chancellor Hitler and Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotoff were expressed by the Bulgarian press today. The semi-official newspaper Slove predicted Russia would attack Turkey if the latter aids Greece against Italy.

BERLIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—Adolf Hitler and Soviet Premier Vyacheslaff Molotoff, meeting for the first time in their lives, conferred well into Berlin's blackout to-night on matters that may exert a profound effect on Axis movements toward the Dardanelles and Near East.

KENNEDY DUE TO QUIT SOON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (INS)—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's resignation is due to be made and accepted very shortly, it was reported in well-informed circles today.

It is not clear at this time who will succeed him in the important and difficult London post.

First call, according to talk around the State Department will go to William C. Bullitt, still officially listed as ambassador to France. Anthony Biddle, ambassador to Poland, also is mentioned in connection with the London job, as is Joseph E. Davis, former ambassador to Russia.

It was understood that Bullitt wrote his resignation shortly after his return from France in July. His letter is still in the President's hands. The resignation has not been accepted. On the contrary, he has been under a good deal of unofficial pressure from high places to take over the London Embassy upon Ambassador Kennedy's long-expected resignation.

DISAGREE ON DECISION

Bullitt's closest friends disagree on what his decision will be. Some believe he will bow to the wishes of the President and State Department and go to London.

Others feel his knowledge of foreign affairs can be of more use here at this critical period and that he will take an important job in this country.

The latter report that certain younger elements in the army would like to see Bullitt's energy and drive devoted to the delicate but important task of slashing red tape in that institution.

DR. MAMLOK DEAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Dr. Hans J. Mamlok, 65, pioneer in modern dentistry in Germany and former head of the University of Berlin Dental School, died of heart disease last night at his New York apartment.

They talked for nearly two and a half hours in Berlin's splendidly-remodeled chancellery. With them were German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop; Russian Foreign Vice-Commissar V. G. Dekanozoff and an interpreter, for neither Hitler nor Molotoff speaks the other's language.

A curious crowd stood outside the inky windows of the chancellery, dark like every other Berlin building for the duration of the war. But the sun went down and the moon began to shine brightly and still Molotoff did not emerge.

Then, at 8:20 p. m., Molotoff and his aides left the chancellery by motor car.

Molotoff called on the chief of the Nazi state after he had talked with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

The drums of the S.S. (Black Shirt Elite Guard) were rolling when the car containing Molotoff and Baron von Dornberg, protocol chief of the foreign office, drew up in front of the chancellery.

Otto Meissner, Hitler's executive secretary, and other prominent Nazi military men stood at attention, gravely saluted and led the Russian statesman into the massive building and to the grand gallery where the Fuehrer stood amidst the splendor he himself helped to design.

BRINGS 33 AIDES

Molotoff, making his first visit to Germany, arrived at 11:05 a. m., accompanied by 33 aides. Ribbentrop and other high Nazis greeted him at the station and he was driven to Bellevue Castle, where he will stay. Later he talked with the foreign minister at the foreign office.

A gala reception was arranged for tonight.

Although fanfare was absent from the greeting which the Russian statesman received as he left his special train at Anhalter station, Germans made no secret of the

ITALIAN MUNITIONS PLANT BLASTED BY RAF IN ALBANIA

ATHENS, Nov. 12 (INS)—A terrific British bombing attack on the chief Albanian port of Durazzo, where huge quantities of Italian explosives were destroyed, was revealed by authorities in Athens today.

The RAF attack was carried out during the night and destroyed a depot for storing explosives and combustibles. After the raid, it was stated, huge fires rose above Durazzo, visible for 100 miles.

In addition, authorities said, a British formation attacked the Albanian port of Valona, blowing up a munitions depot.

The stunning British aerial assaults were revealed as a great new victory was claimed for Greek forces on the central front, while Athens circles estimated more than 9000 Italians have been killed, wounded or captured in a spectacular series of Fascist reverses.

One Italian division has been routed, authorities said, and a second one has been trapped. Fascist troops were reported in flight along the entire battle zone.

This morning's Greek war communique said that many Italian soldiers and much war material had been captured and told of intensive aerial activity. It stated:

"A great number of Italians were taken prisoners, including officers, on Sunday and Monday and much war material was captured.

DIVISION FACES DOOM

"In the course of the day there was strong enemy aviation activity over the front and the interior of the country. Our front was bombed ineffectively at some points but no military objectives were hit. Some civilians were killed and wounded.

"Our air force carried out reconnaissance flights over enemy territory, bombing Port Installations at Valona (Albania) and ships anchored there."

Reports received in Athens claimed that the Greek forces in Albania are threatening to "annihilate" the remnants of an Italian division defending the Italian base at Kalama.

Reports from the battle zone told a story of successive Greek advances.

They stated that three Italian battalions in the Epirus region were broken up near the Ionian sea coast following collapse of the Italian Alpine division which had been holding the middle front in the Pindus mountain area.

3 BATTALIONS RETREAT

The three battalions were reported retreating in disorderly panic before the fierce Greek charges, abandoning large quantities of war material and suffering heavy losses. After disposing of these three columns, it was claimed, the Greeks were forging relentlessly ahead and were threatening a large Italian force further to the north.

Along the coast the Italian retreat was hampered by weather conditions and the Fascist mechanized equipment was in grave danger of becoming bogged down in deep mud, Athens military circles claimed.

9000 DEAD IN BATTLE

Estimates that the Italians have lost more than 9000 in dead, wounded and prisoners were based on reports that of the entire Venezia division, which was smashed on the Pindus Mountain front, less than 3000 men—shorn of their arms—are now wandering aimlessly through southern Albania.

Greek forces north of the border were said to have spent much of yesterday capturing small groups of lost, bewildered Italians.

Italians Admit

Warship Bombed

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—Severe damage to an Italian warship by bombs dropped in an early morning air raid on Italy's main naval base at Taranto was acknowledged by the high command today.

But it reported that the raid, presumably made by British fighters, cost the invaders at least six planes and that Italian submarines recently had dealt heavy blows to British merchantmen and warships in the Mediterranean.

In the war with Greece, which was ignored in yesterday's communique, the Italians reported they had smashed Greek attacks on Kalibaki, in Epirus.

This was tantamount to an admission that the Italians have been at a standstill for 11 days on the Epirus front. Fascist reports Nov. 1 announced that an armored spearhead of Italian forces had broken through on the high-way junction at Kalibaki—Editor's note.

In the raid on Taranto—at the "instep" of the Italian front—six of the raiders definitely were shot down and some of their crew captured, the high command said, and three others were believed to have been downed.

British mechanized forces were reported put to flight by Italian "fast columns" in the region of Alam El Hatusi, southeast of the Italian base at Sici Barrani in northern Africa.

Mrs. Margaret Kelly Hall takes the witness stand in today's hearing of $25,000 alienation of affections suit brought by her ex-husband, Walter S. Hall, Boston bank clerk, against Dr. Adam E. Cole of Swampscott and reveals intimate details of her wedded life.

Married Life Details Told by Mrs. Hall

Intimate details of her married life were revealed today by Mrs. Margaret Kelly Hall before Judge Jesse M. Morton and a Superior Court jury hearing the $25,000 alienation of affections suit brought by her ex-husband against Dr. Adam E. Cole of Swampscott.

At the same time, Mrs. Hall, former beauty prize winner, denied any misconduct with the doctor and asserted that she was associated with him only as her physician.

The plaintiff, Walter S. Hall, Boston bank clerk, who is well known through his association with Greater Boston dance hall management for a number of years, charges in his suit that Dr. Cole persuaded Mrs. Hall to leave home and stole her affections.

MATE ACTED ODDLY

It was mainly as a result of Hall's attitude toward her, the divorced wife testified, that she went to the doctor in the first place.

She was suffering then, in 1931, she said, from bad tonsils, St. Vitus' dance and an organic trouble.

Her husband, the witness declared, was insistent upon birth control, and at the same time he lavished affection upon and talked baby-talk to a cat they had purchased and in other ways he "acted oddly," even to going up on the roof and peering in neighbors' windows.

Under direct examination by Thomas C. O'Brien, her counsel, Mrs. Hall testified that in 1931 she discussed instances of her husband's cruelty to her with Dr. Cole, "my attending physician."

WARNED BY DOCTOR

Q—Did you tell Dr. Cole anything about your marital relations? A—Yes, sir.

Q—What were the marital conditions? A—Unnatural, birth control methods used by my husband.

As a result of her talk with the doctor, she said, he told her that her husband's actions, if continued, would leave her own life incomplete and would make her nervous condition worse.

Q—Were you advised by Dr. Cole to leave your husband? A—No, sir.

Q—Did the doctor make a statement to you? A—He told me to go home and have children, and if not my health would be ruined and I might have to go to the sanitarium.

THREATENED, SHE SAYS

She talked with her husband about the doctor's advice, she said, but without avail.

Q—Subsequently, did you talk

Within a space of 50 minutes today, two powder plants—one engaged in filling defense orders—and a factory manufacturing railway torpedo signals were torn by explosions which killed thirteen persons.

An undetermined number were injured in the explosions, one in western Pennsylvania; and in eastern Pennsylvania, and a third on the New York harbor shoreline of New Jersey.

Federal Bureau of Investigation authorities at Washington immediately launched an investigation into the blasts.

WOODBIDGE, N. J., Nov. 12—Seven were killed and at least 25 injured today as a terrific explosion reduced to kindling the nearby plant of the United Railway Signal Company.

Most of the casualties were women employees.

One of the dead was a workman for an adjoining concern, and several of those hurt were residents in the neighborhood, where homes of a dozen families were damaged badly.

Police and rescue squads searched the ruins for hours before Police Capt. John Egan of Woodbridge township announced all bodies were removed. Earlier police reports placed the death list as high as 20.

Several of the injured were reported near death. Seven were admitted to the Perth Amboy General Hospital and eight to the Rahway Hospital. Each institution treated others, while more were cared for at the scene by ambulance crews.

United Railway Signal manufactures railway track torpedoes, flares and similar equipment. Police expressed the belief that only 15 or 20 persons were employed there. Company officials were unavailable for comment.

Michael J. Anzel, investigator for the state bureau of explosives, said the blast occurred in the priming room, where the powder in use was not explosive under normal conditions unless given a heavy blow. He discounted the possibility of sabotage.

In Washington, Army and Navy officials said preliminary check of defense orders did not show any contracts had been awarded the company.—Editor's note.

Police said there were 15 buildings at the plant, but only half of one remained standing after the blast.

Those destroyed varied from 100 by 200 feet in size. Also demolished was the repair shop of the Middlesex Water Co. adjoining the signal plant.

Injured included persons in their homes nearby and on the street.

Windows were shattered over a radius of a quarter-mile almost without exception, while many were broken in Bayonne, 11 miles away.

PROBE UNDER WAY

The plant is situated in Middlesex County, about 15 miles south of Newark and a similar distance from Manhattan.

Buildings shook in much of central and northern New Jersey and throughout Staten Island, N. Y., which is just across a sound from Woodbridge.

John Costello, undertaker to whose morgue the first five dead were taken, said the bodies were horribly mutilated.

Cover J. J. Flynn of Middlesex County and Police Chief George E. Keating of Woodbridge started investigations in an effort to learn the cause of the blast.

$2,500,000 Fire Destroys Athlone Business Section

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 12 (AP)—Fire causing an estimated $2,500,000 damage destroyed the business district of Athlone, in Eire, today.

Buildings were dynamited to check the spread of the flames.

WORKERS GET PAY BOOST

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 12 (AP)—The Winchester Repeating Arms Co. announced today that it would give its 6000 employees a flat 10 per cent increase, effective Dec. 1.

Safety Commissioner Lou Sullivan said a state highway patrolman reported finding the child dead "in the woods back of the Upshaw place."

Troopers hurried to the scene to continue the investigation and Major Sullivan said he had no further information and did not know the cause of the child's death.

Joe Parker, who lives about eight miles from Cartersville, found the body while walking through the woods with a searching party.

"I didn't look at him closely," Parker said. "He was lying face down under a pine tree."

Parker and his companions said they did not disturb the body after making sure it was the child, but hurried to lead officers to the place.

It was about a mile and a half from the Upshaw home, across the mountain just back of the farm. It was the same mountain on which the child and his dog had often played, but the family said he had never wandered so far away before.

Sonja Must Pay Agent $77,113

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (INS)—Skater Sonja Henie today took a financial spill that was more disastrous than any she ever experienced on ice when a jury decided she owes Dennis Scanlon, a St. Paul sports promoter, $77,113.44.

That sum, contained in a sealed verdict opened today, was awarded in Scanlon's suit in which he contended that under an oral agreement he made with Sonja in 1935, he was to receive a percentage of all of the blonde skater's movie earnings.

In addition to the $77,113.44, Scanlon will get a cut on Sonja's next picture for which she is currently under contract.

Winter's Preview Now Nears Boston

Winter will have a brisk preview in Boston and New England tomorrow night, the weather bureau announced today after a little accident which almost left this area without any weather at all—at least officially.

With temperatures of 13 and 17 below zero reported from Minnesota, Montana and North Dakota, accompanied by from 8 to 18 inches of snow, the frigid blast is sweeping eastward.

By the time it reaches here, however, it will have moderated somewhat, but nevertheless New Englanders will feel the bite of cold more definitely than at any time thus far in the season.

A temperature drop of from 25 to 30 degrees is predicted by tomorrow afternoon, with Wednesday night expected to see a further pronounced drop.

Today the Boston temperature was 64 degrees, with showers hailing. Fourteen years ago, on Nov. 12, 1926, the coldest day for this date was recorded at 25 degrees, in contrast to the warmest Nov. 12, in 1909, when the mercury rose to 76.

Meanwhile, for the first time in 75 years, Boston came perilously close to having no official weather at all today.

The near catastrophe occurred when a power transformer failed at the new U. S. Weather Bureau quarters at East Boston airport. With forecasting service disrupted, officials thought fast.

All recording instruments were hurriedly packed and raced in town to the roof of the federal building, where such recordings formerly were made.

34 Dead as Sub-Zero Storms Sweep West

By the Associated Press

Frigid weather settled down over most of the nation from the Rockies to the east coast today in the wake of battering gales that left a toll of death, destruction and Great Lakes vessels in distress.

The windstorm was blowing itself out over Lake Superior, but winds continued strong in Wisconsin and Michigan and over the lakes, while diminishing west from there. Below zero weather prevailed in the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas, and sub-freezing weather in a great section of the Midwest.

Forecaster R. E. Gumpf at Chicago said the cold wave was stretching to the Atlantic coast today. He said there would be a slight lull in the Midwest but then more cold would follow in from the Northwest, thus continuing the wintry conditions for two or three days. He said the weather charts looked like "a January weather map."

At least 34 deaths were charged against the gales and cold wave and many Great Lakes seamen were in danger as their boats battled heavy seas today.

Lowest early morning temperature today was 17 below zero at Cutbank and Fort Peck, Mont. It was —15 at Havre, Mont., —4 at Bismarck, N. D., —2 at Pierre, S. D., —6 at North Platte, Neb., —8 at Sheridan, Wyo., 7 above at Minneapolis and progressively somewhat warmer southeastward from there.

The weather death toll by states: Illinois 9, Minnesota 12, Indiana 3, Wisconsin 3, Michigan 2, Iowa 2, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Colorado 1 each.

The gale raced across the northern tier of states with gusts attaining a velocity of 80 miles in Wisconsin, 67 in Elmira, N. Y., 65 in Chicago, 63 at St. Louis and 54 in Cleveland.

The violent winds uprooted trees, smashed windows, tore cornices from buildings, leveled frame buildings, broke radio towers, crumbled huge steel electric signs, and ripped away power and communication lines.

Snow blanketed much of the western half of the continent, piling into drifts that crippled transportation in Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Utah.

Two Ships Grounded On Lake Michigan

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—A gale that whipped the length of Lake Michigan periled shipping today and sent at least two vessels aground, including the 253-foot pulpwood carrier Novadoc, fears for whose safety had been felt throughout the night.

The Novadoc, with a crew of 19, was aground off Juniper Beach between Pontwater and Little Point Sauble. Coast guardsmen stood by on the beach prepared to launch a breeches buoy as soon as the wind subsided. Two broken lifeboats and several life belts had drifted ashore. At least two members of the crew were visible on the vessel.

Hub Red Cross Drive Opened

The Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross formally opened its 24th annual rollcall today with a flag-raising and other exercises at Postoffice sq.

Proclamations of Governor Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin were read urging support of the Red Cross program. U. S. military and naval officials were present, headed by Maj.-Gen. James E. Woodruff, commander of the First Corps Area, and Rear Admiral William T. Tarrant, commandant of the First Naval District. William E. Chamberlain, executive director of the Metropolitan Chapter, was master of ceremonies.

97 HUB DRAFTEES TO REPORT NOV. 22

Selective service headquarters announced today that the 97 men to be called from Boston's 27 draft districts in the first Massachusetts quota would be inducted on Friday, Nov. 22.

With two men from Winthrop and one from the Edgartown district, they will report at Irvington st. army, Back Bay, for final physical examinations by army experts before being sworn in to duty for one year.

On the same day at Springfield, 16 men from five districts will be reporting, and in Worcester, 17 men from six districts.

This will be the fourth and last contingent of the 552 men who will make up Massachusetts' first draft quota. The first contingent of 119 men from various cities and towns has already been told to report on Nov. 18; the second, of 140 men, will report on Nov. 19.

140 REPORT ON 20TH

In addition to the induction date for Boston trainees, Maj. David E. Welden of state headquarters announced this afternoon that a third contingent of 140 men would report on Nov. 20, next Wednesday.

At Irvington st. army, men from the following communities will check in, be examined and inducted into the military. These communities, with their quotas, are:

Cambridge (15), Fall River (15), Quincy (9), Salem (5), Saugus (2), Somerville (13), Somerset (5), Swampscott (3), Taunton (5), Wakefield (3), Waltham (6), Wapole (4), Watertown (4), Weymouth (4), Whitman (3), Winchester (3) and Woburn (4).

On that same date, Nov. 20, at Springfield, 20 men from six districts will report and at Worcester 20 men from six other districts.

As each man passes his "finals," he will be assigned to a group; group leaders will be appointed, and the man will be housed at Camp Devens by nightfall.

Meanwhile East Boston's District 12, which had 5794 registrants—largest in the state—was forced today to postpone examination of 32 volunteers for its quota of six.

MEN WERE WAITING

The men were waiting and the board's examiner, Dr. Donald D. Potito was waiting, but medical equipment promised by federal officials failed to arrive and the tests were put off until tomorrow.

East Boston had hoped to be pace-setter, but generally other boards in the state were rushing their procedure to have their quotas ready.

Only in exceptional cases will such men as are in the first quota actually be "drafted," since most districts have more than enough volunteers for their quotas.

An instance of where men may be called by the order numbers they received in the national lottery is in Winthrop, District 162, whose quota is for two men. It has two volunteers, but either or both might be rejected on physical grounds. Its board meets tomorrow.

Revere's two districts, which will supply four men in the first quota, have received their medical supplies and will also meet tomorrow to choose the men who will report for induction Nov. 18. Revere has 25 volunteers in all.

Chelsea, where 40 have volunteered to supply a call for four men, was holding its board meetings late today, but had not yet scheduled its physical examinations.

Cult Gets High Court Review of N.H. Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Members of an organization describing itself as "Jehovah's Witnesses" were granted a Supreme Court review today of a decision upholding the validity of a New Hampshire law directed against parading on city streets without a license.

Appealing from the New Hampshire Supreme Court the group contended the law was unconstitutional because it deprived them of their right of freedom of assembly.

In other verdicts the court: Ruled that the labor board did not have the right to require a company found guilty of violating the Wagner Labor act to reimburse governmental relief agencies for wages paid employees held to have been deprived of their regular work. 16 Millions for Santa Santa Claus, in the role of bank-er, has his biggest pack in history, $16,146,919, to distribute in Christmas Club payments to 391,495 Massachusetts depositors, Charles G. Handy, president of the Saving Banks Association, reported today. Depositors in Bay State savings banks increased 35,103 over 1933, and payments increased $1,531,790, Handy said.

Metropolitan Boston leads the state in amount of savings, with total payments this year of $9,808,068 to 227,381 depositors.

Worcester is second with $901,500 to 26,292 depositors, and Springfield is third with $599,000 to 10,611 depositors.

Other payments include Law-

NEW COMET THRILL DUE IN JANUARY

Hurling from outer space toward our solar system at a speed of 32,000 miles an hour, a newly discovered comet will pass between the earth and the sun in mid-January, probably lashing our planet with its gaseous and strangely luminous tail, astronomers associated with the Harvard Observatory revealed today.

Nat since Halley's comet terrified the world by its close approach in 1919 has one of these weird wanderers of the skies whizzed so close toward our planet.

FIRST SEEN IN SEPTEMBER

Dr. Leland Cunningham of Harvard, who first observed the new comet in September of this year, estimated today the speeding stranger in our heavens will be within 60,000,000 miles of the earth at its point of nearest proximity.

At that time, Dr. Cunningham indicated, the comet will be within 35,000,000 miles of the sun and its tail streaming away from the sun, may possibly encompass the earth in its rarified and mysterious aura. Amateur astronomers of Greater Boston, including a Newton group working in association with the Harvard observatory, predicted today that a yellowish haze, perhaps even a "dark day" like that of 1861, will mark the passage of the earth through the Cunningham comet's tail.

DR. CUNNINGHAM DISAGREES

Dr. Cunningham was not in sympathy with this theory, however.

"While we do not know the exact composition of comet tails," he said, "we do know that they are extremely rarified."

"There was much speculation as to effects, if any, of the close approach to earth of Halley's comet. But there were no observable results whatever of our passage through the comet's tail."

"The atmosphere of the earth, enormously more dense than the tail of any comet, acts as an effective shield against any toxic gases or other impalpable substance which a comet might bring from outer space."

Dr. Cunningham said the new comet may be seen now with strong binoculars or small telescopes "if you know exactly where to look."

He described the position of the comet as between the star Vega and the western end of the constellation of the Northern Cross.

The tail of the Cunningham comet appears short at present, but may gain length as the strange body approaches the solar system, Dr. Cunningham said.

He estimated the comet's bulk as equal to or greater than that of Halley's comet, last here in 1909. At its point of nearest approach, the new comet will be plainly visible to the naked eye, Dr. Cunningham said.

He and Dr. Frank A. Jescet of Newton, head of the group of amateur astronomers there, agreed that there is "no chance whatever" of the Cunningham comet colliding with the earth.

"We have been able to calculate the comet's orbit almost exactly," Dr. Cunningham said. "It will miss the earth by at least 60,000,000 miles."

Willkie Opposition Plan Is Acclaimed

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Republican leaders in the Capitol today endorsed Wendell Willkie's plea to the minority to function as the "watchful opposition" of the New Deal, while Democratic leaders were fretting over their inability to adjourn Congress this week.

G. O. P. House Leader Joseph W. Martin led Republican acclaim of Willkie's five-point legislative program and his appeal to the minority to co-operate as a "vigorous and loyal public-spirited opposition party."

Willkie's proposals dove-tailed into Martin's own declaration that House Republicans will continue to oppose New Deal measures which they think are wrong and support those which they think are right. There also was general approval of Willkie's suggestion that the great nation-wide independent organizations, created during the campaign to support the Republican nominee be continued as a "loyal opposition" to the New Deal.

ASKS CLUBS DROP NAME
Willkie won endorsement of this idea by frankly asking that his own name be dropped from the Willkie club because he sought "no personal advantage" toward the 1944 campaign.

This declaration was popular among Republicans, as reorganized clubs can be used eventually to help any G. O. P. nominee in 1944, whether he be Taft, Martin, Vandenberg, Bricker, Dewey, Burton, Green or Willkie.

The Willkie warning against inflation and appeal to Republicans to be "constantly watchful that America is safeguarded and our national defense funds not wasted" also fell on fertile ground. Both House and Senate Republicans maintained these policies during the long summer session that dealt with national defense.

In the House, Martin has special Republican committees operating to deal with the inflation problem and to watch against waste in national defense expenditures. A typical Republican comment, by the veteran Rep. Michener of Michigan, was:

"Splendid speech, full of good advice. His suggestion that his name be eliminated from the Willkie club was a gracious, generous gesture."

MINORITY TO BE LOYAL

"I was particularly impressed with his view that the minority plays an important part in our government. The minority will be loyal, but at the same time will preserve that function for which it was intended in our form of government."

Senators Hiram Johnson of California and Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan strongly endorsed the speech.

"I think Mr. Willkie made a very good speech," Johnson said. "The idea of unity is a holdover of the hysteria we have all felt during the last few months. There is and should be a militant minority in both branches of Congress to sift and study all legislative proposals."

"The Republican party," Vandenberg said, "will support an attitude of constant vigilance and legitimate co-operation, but with no totalitarian, rubber-stamp subservience. At the moment, however, the thing that interests me is this adjournment question. If we're in a crisis, such that the President cannot get away from Washington for 12 hours, Congress shouldn't get away 60 days beyond recall." The Democratic leadership meanwhile ran into a stone wall in trying to adjourn Congress this week. They discovered at the last moment that Senate Leader Barkley had promised a group of Democratic senators, led by Hatch of New Mexico, to arrange Senate consideration of the controversial Logan-Walter bill. This measure, already passed by the House, would curb some New Deal agencies by making their decisions subject to review in the federal courts.

PRIMARIES IN 3 CITIES

With the excitement of a national election hardly subsided, voters went to the polls in three Massachusetts cities today for their regular municipal primaries.

New Bedford and Haverhill voters are to nominate candidates for mayor and all elective city offices, while in Newburyport candidates will be nominated for the school board and for one vacancy in the city council.

More than 40,000 of New Bedford's 52,000 registered voters are expected to ballot in a mayoralty race in which nine are candidates. Mayor Leo E. J. Carney is seeking a third term and all eight challengers have attacked his administration. In Haverhill, Mayor Albert W. Glynn is in an exciting four-corner fight for re-election.

Brookline Invalid Periled by Flames

A bed-ridden woman, attended by the nurse and maid who refused to leave her side, remained in her home today as a fierce fire, fanned by a high wind, raged through a Brookline apartment house.

Top Penalty In Hit-Run Death

A Roxbury youth, who surrendered in a fatal hit-and-run accident on Nov. 2 after his brother had been arrested by police, was given the maximum penalty on charges brought against him in Roxbury court today.

On a charge of leaving the scene of an accident after causing injury Paul A. Morganello, 25, of Shirley st., was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction; on a manslaughter charge probable cause was found; and for driving to endanger he was fined $200.

"This is the first time I ever have given the maximum penalty in such a case," said Judge Timothy J. Abern.

Morganello surrendered after his older brother, Daniel, had been arrested as the driver of an auto that ran down Mrs. Sidie Vartanian, 65, of Columbus ave., Roxbury, Nov. 1, inflicting injuries that caused her death the next day.

The youth, who had pleaded not guilty, appealed the findings and was held in $2500.

New Haven Branch Abandonment O. K.'d

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. today to abandon 11.19 miles of branch line from Adamsdale Junction, Mass., to Franklin Junction, Mass., and Providence County, R. I.

Two mothers carrying babies in their arms were among those who fled the flames in the exclusive apartment building in Parkway rd., Brookline.

A Brookline fireman, Edward Dohney, was cut by flying glass and was taken to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Mrs. Philip S. Johnson, confined to bed in her apartment on the second floor, could not be moved though the blaze burst through almost the entire building.

Remaining by her side were her nurse, Miss Laura Murray, 45, and her maid, Miss Catherine Healey, 22.

Fire Chief Seiden R. Allen ordered a second alarm as the wind threatened to carry the flames to adjoining apartment buildings. He estimated damage was $6000.

Dr. David Skinner of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital carried his 9-month-old son, Martin, from the burning building.

Mrs. W. J. Pinard also carried her baby, Alward, one and a half years old, to safety.

Mrs. Frances Feehan, 59, and Ray Daggett, 50, fled second-floor apartments, with several other persons. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

200 Meet to Put Sally Fund Over Top

Some 250 business and professional men and women met at the Chamber of Commerce today to make plans for collecting $50,000 more necessary to meet the $200,000 total set as objective of the Salvation Army's 1940 campaign. Original date for closing the campaign had been last Saturday, but the shortage required extension.

ROMANCE?—Rumor has it 'round Chicago that Tom Harmon's heart belongs to Marjorie Weaver (above) . . . as the ace footballer and the cute actress have been constant companions lately.

reputation of an interview appearing in the Boston Sunday Globe was "regretted" last night in a statement issued by the Globe. Kennedy repudiated the interview in a statement issued from his New York office, claiming the conversation was "off the record" and that it contained inaccuracies.

The statement: "The Globe regrets that Ambassador Kennedy takes exception to publication of the interview in question. It was Mr. Lyons' understanding that he was at liberty to use any of the remarks in their long interview in Boston, except for those which Mr. Kennedy specified as 'off the record,' and these, of course, were not touched upon in the published interview."

Rain Quenches 2-Alarm Grass Fire in Hingham

A second alarm was sounded in Hingham today—for a grass fire.

Responding to an alarm for a blaze in fields off Prospect St., Chief Seth Sprague ordered the second alarm when he found the fire sweeping through three-foot grass before a high wind toward a group of six bungalows.

With the extra apparatus, however, came rain and the fire was quenched.

Fired Cook Quizzed In 12 Pancake Deaths

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Doctors and chemists at three hospitals today strove to save the lives of 43 men stricken by food poisoning—believed to be roach powder baked in pancakes—which killed 12 wayfarers at a Salvation Army home yesterday.

The stricken men were among 70 partaking of an Armistice Day breakfast at the "Army's" quarters in the Lawrenceville district of the city.

The home's cook, Arthur Wilson, who Coroner P. J. Henney said mixed the pancake batter was among those ill. He told authorities he had no idea how the roach powder came to be mixed into the batter.

POWDER IN CUPBOARD

Adjutant Roy Barber had detectives there was a supply of the insect powder in the kitchen supply room when he took over management of the Salvation Army Home in September.

Barber said that when he took over the management he asked a former cook, in charge at that time, if he had any of the powder used to exterminate insects. He said the former cook showed him a package of it in the supply cupboard adjoining the kitchen.

The former cook, who was discharged three weeks ago, was held by Philadelphia police for questioning. Police said that after going to Philadelphia he corresponded with acquaintances here.

VICTIMS IN AGONY

A breakfast of pancakes, bacon, coffee and sweet cake was served to lodgers. A few minutes later a half dozen men began to moan with stomach cramps. Then a dozen men writhed in agony on their beds. When deputy coroners arrived beds in the home were virtually filled with men in agony.

Dr. Robert Kooser, resident physician at St. Francis Hospital said the roach powder—sodium fluoride—is "a terrible poison."

"It destroys the blood cells," he said. Officials said sodium fluoride is a quick acting white substance that might easily be mistaken for

150 Alaska Defense Workers Poisoned

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Juneau Daily Empire said today territorial health commissioner, W. W. Council had received word that more than 150 civilian employees working on the new Army Air Base at anchorage became ill of food poisoning over the weekend.

The newspaper said the council had received word from Dr. A. S. Walkowsky, deputy health commissioner, that some of the men were in such pain he had to administer narcotics. None of the victims died. Samples of the food were being analyzed.

12 VICHY K.O'S LABOR GROUP, BIG TRUSTS

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, NOV. 12, 1940

VICHY, France, Nov. 12 (AP)—The French government dissolved today by special decree a group of industrial syndical organizations including the powerful Comité Des Forges Steel Trust and the General Confederation of Labor.

Also among the organizations dissolved was the great coal trust (Comité Centrale des Houillères de France), which almost completely controlled the French coal industry. To replace private corporations in the steel and coal fields, the government created a series of committees.

The organizations' possessions were ordered held at the government's disposition for a future decree.

Other syndical organizations dissolved were the powerful employers' association, the "Confédération générale du Patronat Francaise," the labor syndicate, the "Confédération Française des Travaillleurs Chrétiens" and the "Confédération des Syndicats Professionnels Français."

Two committees were appointed to control the coal industry in France under government supervision.

The decisions were taken in line with the government's announced policy of suppressing private organizations which controlled France's industrial life under "the old regime."

Indo-China Favors Free French Rule

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Domel, Japanese news agency, reported from Hanoi, French Indo-China, that Rear Admiral Jean Decoux had resigned as governor general of that French colony. The agency said the reason was a strong group in Saigon favoring the "free French" movement of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

British Admit 13 Ships Lost

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Britain lost 13 merchant ships totaling 65,000 tons in the week ending Nov. 3, the admiralty announced today. Other shipping losses that week were reported as four Allied ships totaling 5,000 tons and one neutral ship of 1,000 tons.

The total of 70,000 tons included the Enniscorthy, the admiralty said, adding that excluding that large liner British losses amounted to 23,200 tons "whereas the enemy, with their usual exaggeration, claimed to have sunk, in the week under review 134,000 tons of our merchant shipping."

Announcement of the shipping losses was followed by an admiralty statement denying German claims that an entire British convoy of 15 to 20 ships totaling 86,000 tons had been sunk by German surface raiders in the Atlantic.

"It can now be stated," the admiralty said, "that a substantial majority of the ships forming the convoy attacked by an enemy surface raider last week eluded the raider."

British Factory Areas Bombed

BERLIN, Nov. 12 (INS)—Heavy German bombing attacks on industrial centers in the English midlands, especially Birmingham, where gas tanks were reported hit and set on fire, were announced in Berlin today.

Flies also were started in factories and supply depots in other English cities during yesterday's bombing operations, the announcement said.

Successful attacks on "war-important objectives" in London, Southern England, Portsmouth and Ramsgate also were claimed.

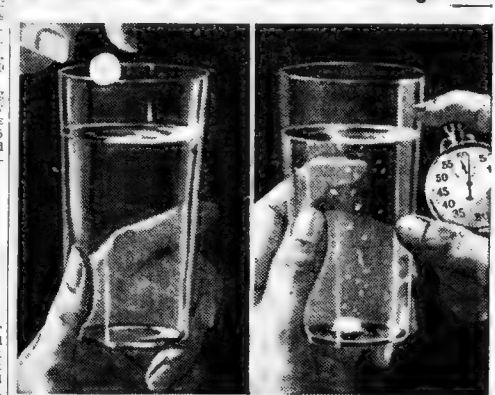

An earlier announcement said long-range German bombers sank another 37,000 tons of British merchant shipping, almost an entire convoy, in the North Sea, while other German planes sank a British vessel of 2,500 or 3,000 tons 340 miles west of the Irish coast in the Atlantic.

outside the demolished plant, calm and dry-eyed. Other spectators were kept back by police lines.

Five women employees of the plant were rushed to the Perth Amboy General Hospital, several miles away, where they were reported in serious condition. Hospital attendants identified three as Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, Leola Hanson and Mrs. Nellie Westgaard.

The explosion, third serious one in New Jersey in the past two months, occurred about the time the day shift was coming in.

On Sept. 12 an explosion at the Hercules Powder Corp. plants at Dover killed 50 persons, and on Sept. 23 two were killed and 11 injured in a blast at the United States Army Arsenal at Picatinny.

Residents on the south shore of Staten Island felt the impact of the blast in quaking homes and at Great Kills, about 8 miles from the scene, two large store windows were smashed.

Twelve miles away, at Tottenville, residents there said the explosion had "the effect of an earthquake."

Dynamite Blast Kills 3 In Pennsylvania Plant

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 12 (AP)—An explosion of 1000 pounds of dynamite today blasted to bits three men and a packing house in which they were working at the American Cyanamid & Chemical Corp. plant three miles from here.

The blast occurred at 8:10 a. m., a few seconds after a small plant locomotive had brought the explosive to the small packing house and had chugged away with 1000 pounds of dynamite that had been packed and wrapped in stick form.

State Motor Patrolman Robert McCullough said there was "nothing left to provide any clues" to the cause of the explosion, adding that as far as he could determine there was no reason to suspect sabotage.

Only a hole in the ground" remained at the spot where the packing house stood, McCullough said. It was located in a ravine where several other plant buildings were situated.

Windows in a laboratory were shattered by the explosion, but no other buildings and the remainder of the plant, 100,000 boxes escaped unharmed. The plant was formerly an advertisement.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just get up and go to work about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisons and waste acids in the blood, these poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, get up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent urination, passing urine with smarting and itching sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

is operated by the Buntin Explosive Co. and was known here as the Buntin Powder Works.

The dead were identified as Lee Waddell, 35, New Castle; Elmer Kidduff, of 32, Edinburg, three miles from the plant, and Howard Duncan, 24, New Castle.

The blast shook this industrial community, rattling windows and springing doors in many buildings.

Powder Explosion At Allentown Kills 3

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12 (AP)—Three men were killed today when an explosion officially described as accidental wrecked a small building of the Trojan Powder Co. plant six miles northwest of Allentown.

The victims were in the building used in the manufacture of detonators for commercial blasting work. An independent concern, the company held at least one national defense contract—an Army order placed just a week ago for $81,400 worth of explosives.

The company held government defense contracts totaling at least $202,150. The Army had placed orders amounting to $159,400 for explosives and the Navy ordered $42,750 worth of TNT.

The dead, Fred Weller of Schuylkill, Pa.; Hugh Fisher, Allentown, and William Schoenfelder, Blensville.

John Bronstein, company treasurer, estimated property damage at between $300 and $400.

Coroner Alexander M. Peters reported the blast was "just an unfortunate accident."

U. S. Opens Probe Of 3 Explosions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Preliminary investigations of blasts which destroyed life and property at three explosives manufacturing plants today was undertaken immediately by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Whether government agents would take charge of the full inquiries into all three disasters appeared to depend on whether substantial federal interests were found in each instance.

Sabotage at Seattle Yard Probed by FBI

SEATTLE, Nov. 12 (AP)—An investigation of asserted sabotage at the Todd Shipyard, where two passenger ships are being converted into Navy transports, was reported here today.

The Post-Intelligencer said it had learned of five acts of sabotage prior to last week, but none had occurred since. The paper said ground enemy had been found in some of the machinery.

Prosecutor B. Gray Warner confirmed that the case had been reported to him. Federal Bureau of Investigation headquarters here, which the paper said was directing the inquiry, declined comment.

R. J. Lamont, Todd president and general manager, said "the case is closed so far as we are concerned, and it is ridiculous to bring it up now." He declined to discuss it further.

BANDIT SUSPECT HELD

After a motel's charge against him and a Watertown married woman had been dismissed in Cambridge court today, David S. Jacufans, 32, who sought as a New England "bad man" was turned over to Revere police in connection with a holdup that netted $2500 in cash and $2000 in checks and money orders.

Jacufans was also confronted by federal and state authorities, the former interested in his alleged false draft registration, the latter with a warrant charging him with being a fugitive from justice.

Judge Robert Walcott decided to give Revere officers first chance at Jacufans because five persons identified him as one of two bandits who held up the Suburban Gas & Electric Light Co. Revere

3 Youths Fined In Football Riot

Acting on the advice of Police Chief Timothy F. Leahy that they exemplify bad behavior, Judge Robert Walcott in East Cambridge court today fined three youths $10 each for disturbing the peace at yesterday's Rindge-Cambridge Latin football game.

Those who paid were Robert Bretton, 19, of Clinton st., Cambridge; his brother, Henry, 17, of Candia, N. H.; and Lawrence Cormier, 18, of Dudley st., Cambridge.

The boys were arrested shortly after the game and a brawl started, resulting in injuries to a Cambridge police officer.

"These boys are not students at either school," Chief Leahy said, "and are examples of bad behavior."

Follows Wife In Death After Mercy Killing

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12 (INS)—In a "mercy killing" which apparently had the consent of his mentally ailing wife, Eleanor, 47, Ernest M. Lougee, 65, a Newark druggist, shot her to death as she slept today, then killed himself with the same pistol.

Her body was found in bed at their apartment. She had been shot in the temple, Lougee lay dead beside the bed with a bullet wound in the mouth.

On a living room desk was found this unaddressed note, signed "Ernest":

"I am sorry to make such a mess, but I promised Nell I would go along with her. You can see it is better for her to go. So I will go with her. Please see us the rest of the way."

Police did not make public the contents of notes left to Lougee's brother, Louis, of Waterbury, Ct., and Mrs. Lougee's brother, Elmer S. Garfield, of Franklin Park, N. J.

Lougee's wife had been suffering from a nervous complaint for some time.

MRS. HALL TELLS OF MARRIED LIFE

His Election Cost Is Zero

with the doctor? A—In 1934, on a professional call, I discussed the same matters with him. My condition was just the same.

Q—Going back to October, 1928, when you were married, were you in love with Mr. Hall? A—No.

Q—Why did you marry him? A—Because I liked him very much.

Q—In 1929 was there any trouble? A—We bought a cat. He acted odd about this cat. He used to hug and kiss it and talk baby talk to it. He acted odd about the animal. He also went to the roof for hours, looking into windows. Marital life was excessive. He was moody.

Mrs. Hall further testified that in 1935 Hall threatened her with a gun. She said:

"On one occasion he told me to get my prayerbook—that he was going to kill me. I talked him out of it. He had the gun in a bag."

In that same year, she said, she went to work in a Boylston st. toilet shop because he refused to give her money. At that time, according to her testimony, he was teaching dancing in a Huntington ave., Back Bay, establishment and also worked in a Back Bay ballroom.

Asked if she had visited Dr. Cole in Jan. 1934, she said she did. Dr. Cole at his office to a complete examination. In 1936 she said, she saw the doctor continuously after I left my husband.

When she went to work at a Park Hyatt hotel, she testified, he was for half of the period at the hotel but the last three weeks in the Marlborough rooming house, residing which there has been no man.

She told the court she was asked by the hotel management to move out immediately after Hall had punched her there the night before. As a result, her brother Joseph and Dr. Cole arrived at the hotel and while the doctor went out to look for a room for her, the brother packed her bags.

In 1938, the witness testified, she brought a petition against Hall for separate support, as a result of which Hall "made a statement to me in the nature of a threat."

"Mr. Hall said," she testified, "I'll bring a very scandalous divorce and name some man," which he did."

Q—Did you ever have improper relations with Dr. Cole? No, sir.

WORKED AS MODEL. Under a cross-examination Mrs. Hall said that at one time she posed for art schools, but she asserted her posing was done while "Where are you living now?" she was asked.

"Commonwealth ave.," she replied.

Q—Are you working? A—No.

Q—Where does your family live? A—Lake st., Brighton. I live with them most of the time.

Q—You were married in Belmont at a church wedding? A—Yes, sir.

Q—In the ceremony, didn't you profess your love for your husband, promise to love, honor and cherish him? A—Yes, sir.

NOT JEALOUS OF CAT.

Q—Then those statements were not true. A—I depends on how you define love. I liked him very much.

Q—Then you say there are degrees of love? A—Yes; I liked him very much.

Q—You say you did some posing? A—Yes.

Q—Did you pose with your clothes on or in the nude? A—With my clothes on, of course.

Q—Now, about this cat that you refer to—did you hug the cat? A—No.

Q—You weren't fond of the cat? A—Yes, sir.

Q—That's the cat you said your husband hugged? A—Yes.

Q—Were you jealous of the cat? A—No.

DESCRIBES HOTEL VISIT.

Q—After the 1933 automobile accident, you say he made excessive demands on you? A—That's right.

Q—Despite his physical condition? A—Yes, sir.

Q—As a matter of fact, three quarters of the time the relations were at your suggestion? A—No, sir.

Taking up the matter of Hall's visit to the Breakers Hotel in June, 1935, regarding which Hall had testified to finding Dr. Cole, she said she had seen him in Mrs. Hall's room the night she arrived at her home that night and that she saw him in the doctor's office on Swampscott was about a mile away, she said, and she remembered when he was taking her to come into and treat her.

Q—Why didn't you go to the doctor's office to be treated? A—You can ask a doctor to call at your home, can't you?

HAD HALF-HOUR TREATMENT. Q—What time did the doctor get there? A—About 10 to 11 or quarter of 11.

Q—Did you have a treatment? A—Osteopathic treatment.

Q—Is it necessary to remove apparel for this treatment? A—It is necessary to remove my dress.

Q—How long did he treat you? A—Half an hour.

Q—Were you standing up or sitting down? A—Lying down on the bed.

Q—When did he stop? A—Well, I said it's half-hour treatment.

Q—Then what did you do. A—I put my dress on.

Q—What time did you have had? A—Then? A—Quarter past eleven.

Q—When he got there, the room was in darkness, wasn't it? A—No.

PENETRATED, SHE SAYS.

Q—You were asleep and you were awakened by your husband knocking? A—No, sir.

Q—Why didn't you open the door for your husband? A—Because he threatened me and said he would kill me if I didn't open the door. He said, "Dr. Cole is in there. I've seen his car down stairs."

Q—He performed the massage, or operation, with all his clothes on? A—With his suit on.

Q—Why didn't you go to his office? A—I was too tired.

When Hall came into the hotel room, she said, Dr. Cole was sitting on the bed and Hall, panicked, came in.

"My husband complained to the doctor," she testified, "because I wouldn't live with him."

Q—He didn't complain about the doctor being in the room? A—No.

16 DANTE MYSTIFIES, THRILLS, DELIGHTS ALL AT SHUBERT

Amazing Stunts Crowd Program

By PEGGY DOYLE

Before you could say abracadabra, roses sprang full-grown from a blossom bush, ducks were summoned out of nowhere, a falcon dummy was transformed into a live lady and chaos rumbled on their own momentum last night at the Shubert Theater.

By intermission, there were those in the pop-eyed audience who half expected to be wadded out to the jam-packed lobby by levitation.

Which is by way of saying that almost anything can happen when that master magician, the master himself, Dante, is in the house.

Locking like a cross between Jack Harrymont and Einstein, the great Mystifier, to the brassy accompaniment of carnival music, put on a show that had the entire house open-mouthed and round-eyed in stupefied amazement.

The only thing fatal about the joyous occasion was Dante's gab, while he and tails. It proved to be a false front for he quipped and gagged throughout, twisting the east and westwarders alternately with the most dawning manner. And so it was all the more astounding when, in the midst of his persuasive perisage, he would cause a woman to remain suspended in mid-air, pear beer from a bottomless keg or cause a pretty girl to vanish before your very eyes.

It has been 13 years since Dante hoodwinked an American audience (the having completed four round-the-world tours meanwhile). Nor in his absence had there been anybody to successfully fill in for him.

His return appearance on Broadway in September, as a consequence, got so many people out of the house and into the theater that it looked for a while as though Manhattan might be having a permanent house of magic.

But after a successful run there, the Danish-American magician who used to be billed The Great Jansen saw fit to take his company of 25, his 50 or more disciples and his sundry sleight of hand trunks around to the rest of the country.

He calls his show "Sam Sula Kim," a Danish phrase he translates as "thanks to you" and Time Magazine classifies as a phrase from a Danish folk song roughly translatable as "Asia-in-boom-de-ay." Call it anything, it still spells a spellbinding evening out of this world. Probably the trickiest trick in Dante's repertoire is his talent for bringing the audience back to earth with some witty crack immediately after he has completely mystified them with one of his supernatural stunts. Throughout, he maintains a nice balance of stupefying hokum and earthy humor.

You'll like him, and so will your mother and your sisters and your aunts, to say nothing of your brothers and your snailly relatives.

LOVE DOESN'T run so smooth for Dick Powell and Ellen Drew.

who play the leading roles in Preston Sturges' Paramount picture, "Christmas in July," opening Thursday at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters.

'Vaniteasers' Hit With Howard Fans

The Old Howard's current burlesque revue, "Vaniteasers," was a parade of prettices headed by the vivacious Jean Mode and the titillated Vicki Welles, is finding favor with the cash customers, Frank N. Sisk, a Hub favorite, is in charge of the foolery, aided by Chic Hunter and George Murray.

'The Secret Seven' For Bowdoin Screen

Starting tomorrow, Bowdoin screen will show "The Secret Seven," with Eileen MacLane and Florence Rice, and "The Age," a horror special starring Boris Ioff with Maris Wrixon.

'Christmas in July' Opens Thursday at Para-Fenway

"Christmas in July," which opens Thursday at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters, is the second picture to be written and directed by Preston Sturges. His first picture was "The Great McGinty," a political comedy that was hailed enthusiastically throughout the country.

His current picture—co-starring Dick Powell and Ellen Drew—is another farce developed from a simple story of a boy and girl in love trying to get enough money ahead to get married. The hero is addicted to solving national contests as a short road to fame and fortune. He has never won one, but figures that everyone he loves makes his chances so much greater the next time.

Some practical jokers send him a wire announcing that he was won the $25,000 plugon contest for a nationally known brand of coffee. Taking the wire to the president of the company he collects the check, although the committee judging the entries is still trying to make up its mind about a winner.

Armed with the check he goes on a spending spree buying presents for everyone, even the neighborhood children. How he and the coffee company president get out of this embarrassing situation makes for lots of laughs.

"Cheekie Strip," the second feature, stars Richard Dix with Florence Rice, William Henry Victor Jory, Andy Clyde and George E. Stone.

THE RED CROSS membership campaign, officially launched in Massachusetts by Governor Saltonstall, commends itself powerfully to every charitable minded person.

In a world cursed by warfare and bloodshed, the Red Cross signifies PEACE.

In a nation striving for adequate defense, the Red Cross is an emblem of UNITY.

Most of us cannot go in person to wounded and dying men, women and children in the embattled countries abroad.

Few can take food, clothing and money to unfortunate people in remote parts of our own United States.

But the Red Cross, as fully as its resources permit, will do it all for us, more than we could do it ourselves.

A dollar contributed to this universally respected organization is a dollar spent in a truly worth while manner.

LES AMIS D'ESCOFFIER, taking their first pilgrimage outside Boston for their seventh convocation, dined and wined in Worcester Sunday evening.

The super-super menu included such extreme delicacies as pate de fois gras, Grand Vin Des Moines 1926, Chateau Pontet-Canet 1934, a champagne known as Veuve Clicquot Ponsardin 1929, soup made of green turtle from Key West and a mile-wide gamut of intricate desserts.

Of course the gourmets had a good time.

No pampered palate could resist such a romantic assortment of foods and beverages.

Just the same, we cannot help thinking that a table laden with native New England meats, vegetables, fruits and wines would be quite as inviting.

We believe the distinguished Les Amis d'Escoffier would set a very commendable example for all the rest of us if they experimented with such a meal.

The State of Maryland has established an interesting and undoubtedly profitable precedent for this.

When Mr. H. L. Mencken entertained Former Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas at the Mencken Baltimore estate after the 1936 Presidential election, the menu boasted:

Chesapeake Bay oysters, Maryland celery, terrapin a la Maryland, Maryland beaten biscuits, fried chicken a la Maryland, cream sauce-grilled native bacon, Southern corn fritters with potato croquettes, Maryland ham, Maryland hearts of lettuce, Maryland water ice and Maryland rye whiskey cocktails.

There was absolutely no doubt in Alf Landon's mind regarding his presence at a Maryland table eating Maryland food and drinking Maryland liquor.

The same would be true if we served our New England guests more New England farm and garden products.

We who live here know that we are distinguished for a great deal more than Boston baked beans.

But do the good people who live in the Middle and Far West know it, too?

OLD MAN WINTER is practically here; the signs are sure and positive.

Christmas decorations are appearing in store windows and in the main streets of many New England communities.

Boston merchants report an unprecedented demand for furs and warm overcoats.

One's own home seems cozier than ever before, particularly the living room with a briskly blazing fireplace.

But the most certain indication of winter's approach is the news from North Conway, N. H.

In that famous mountain resort the 1941 skiing season has begun.

The snow is from five to six feet in depth, with an occasional 15-foot drift.

It is a challenge to winter sports enthusiasts of all ages to turn the family automobile northward or board a train and enjoy one of the healthiest and most beneficial of all outdoor activities.

IF YOU HOPE to be the parent of twins, the United States Census Bureau is prepared to quote the odds for you.

There is one chance in 83 that you will be the mother or father of twins.

The Bureau has additional figures—that is, if you are interested.

There is one chance in 8800 that you will have triplets.

As for quadruplets, give the possibility little thought.

In the 44,113,147 births that have been recorded from 1915 to 1933, there were only 72 cases of quadruplets.

The Census Bureau makes no mention of quintuplets for the very good reason that there has been no report of this kind of multiple birth in our forty-eight States.

The five little Dionne sisters still reign supreme on this continent.

On The Side

"BALD-HEADED men say lack of hair is a sign of brains," writes Detroit. "Nothing to it. The contrary may be true. Just try to name 12 famous bald-headed Americans." Well, sir, I'll start trying with Knute Rockne, who was a bald-head with plenty of brains. Watch all early issues for 11 more smart bald-heads... His favorite wall motto, says Paul de Kruif, is, "What are the facts?" A very good wall or desk motto for newspapermen, especially "Inside Stuff" columnists. As Communism favors the overthrow of the United States form of government, I cannot understand why it has been given a place on our ballot.

NEW YORK hotel chambermaids are to get 33 cents an hour. So if they work 50 hours a week they can make $16.15 in that period. Now and then they get a tip. Best tippers in New York hotels come from following cities named in order of their generosity. 1. Chicago. 2. San Francisco. 3. Tulsa, Okla. 4. Pittsburgh, Pa. 5. Los Angeles. 6. Baltimore, Md.

NO CAR should be permitted to go over 45 miles an hour on any highway and a device regulating all cars to that speed should be compulsory... Then I heard there was an American Flag fish which naturally was my final choice. What would be a good name for an American Flag fish? How about Seventeen Hundred and Seventy-Six? Or Fourth of July?

FAITH BALDWIN is a brilliant novelist. Her father, Stephen C. Baldwin, lawyer, once received a $250,000 fee for one case. Faith is married to Hugh Cathrell, an executive of the Brooklyn Gas Co. Proving again Oliver Herford was right when he said: "Into each life some Brooklyn must fall." The Cathrells have four children, including girl twins... Gloria Vanderbilt, glamorous little rich girl, is now 17. Gloria's voice is gentle and low, which as W. Shakespeare said is "An excellent thing in woman." And also which is very rare among female socialites. Asked what was the biggest thrill of her life Miss Vanderbilt, unhesitatingly answered: "When I had lunch with Deanna Durbin." What was the biggest thrill of your life, lady?

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

CHICAGO, Ill., Monday—This is Armistice Day and we are on our way by train to Chicago. It is raining and the landscape is dreary and gloomy, as it may well be, for it matches the mood of most of us who remember what Armistice Day meant to us in the year 1918.

Again we gather in body or in spirit at Unknown Soldier's tombs the world over, but the belief that their sacrifice would never have to be renewed is gone.

In the years to come, in many countries in the world, people will again gather to mourn the death of young men, old people, women and children, killed in this period of war madness.

For years I prayed and worked and hoped that the desire for war could be removed from men's hearts. Now I have to change my prayer, for when some men use force they oblige the rest of the world to compete on their terms.

THERE ARE people, of course, who believe that physical force can be conquered by spiritual, passive resistance. Those who hold to this belief may prove at some future date that they are right.

In the meantime, for most of us, it seems imperative that we meet physical force with physical force. But our prayers and our endeavor should be to use this physical force to achieve the results in which we believe, and which are not achieved by the aims and desires of those against whom we exert our influence.

Can we have physical force and not use it for oppression? The totalitarian countries would seem to prove that the answer is "No." All of their people obey the will of the man or the few men who form their government, and this will is exerted to bring about misery and terror for certain groups of people and subservience for all.

Our force, to justify itself, must be exerted to defend the weak, to insist that justice, so far as we know it, shall be meted out to all of our citizens and to those who come within our sphere of influence.

If we can keep a guard upon ourselves which will prevent a lust for power, or a debauch of greed, then we will have done something even greater than what we envisioned on the Armistice Day of 1918.

MY DAY

May the prayer in the heart of each and every citizen of the United States today be that they acquire strength—physical, mental and moral—but only so that they may use it to build up a civilization from which war of all kinds may disappear.

May God give each and every one of us the power to love, the grace to be humble and the understanding to be compassionate.

CHAPLIN DEFENDS SUCCESS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—"Success," Charlie Chaplin declares at the Copacabana, "makes people act natural. If they become big-headed it doesn't mean that they've changed—but only that they really are that way" . . . "Alex Korda was my movie editor in Budapest 20 years ago." Alexander Ince, publisher, relates at Fefe's Monte Carlo. "I always used to complain to him: 'Not enough movie ads.' Now he's one of the backers of my magazine, and I flew to Hollywood last week to show him the first issue. Korda looked at it and said: 'Only one criticism—not enough movie ads' . . . "Milton Berle, who left a sick bed here to go to Hollywood, has had a relapse," an agent reports at Levene's. "And his mother tried the new gas stove at their house in Beverly Hills—and the stove exploded, so she also needs medical attention" . . . "Well, Mayor LaGuardia isn't going to rest now that the election is over," one of his aides assures at the Gamecock cafe. "He's flying to San Francisco this week-end, and then he'll fly up the West Coast to Alaska. It concerns Canadian-U. S. defense."

"THE SENATE'S wire-tapping committee, headed by Senator Stewart of Tennessee, has unearthed a passport fraud ring," a Washington official informs at the Stork Club. "In investigating the activities of wire tapper LaBorde, they discovered a steward working on the Atlantic Clipper with a forged American passport. He lost his job when he refused to accept a transfer from the N. Y.-to-Bermuda run. He was arrested last week when he was found working as a captain of waiters in a midtown hotel" . . . "Jill Esmond, ex-wife of Laurence Olivier, has a new job as a radio actress," a producer reports at the Tavern. "She's working on WEAF's day time serial, 'Wuthering Heights'—the story in which her husband won fame."

"I MADE enough money out of Hollywood to keep me for the next four years," Robert Ardrey confesses at Sardi's. "So now I'm going to resume playwrighting. I'm going to San Antonio next week, to live there and complete this new play I've been thinking about" . . . David Selznick looks down from the balcony at Uptown Cafe Society, sees Wendy Iglehart and calls to her: "Now's your chance to act. You play Romeo to my Juliet" . . . "I spoke to Andre Malraux and he insists that the Nazi-French peace treaty already has been signed secretly," a French exile states at El Morocco. "He says it provides the following: The Atlantic ports to be leased to Germany for 25 years. Germany gets Alsace Lorraine and Dakar. Italy gets Nice, Tunisia, Savoy and Corsica. Spain gets Biarritz and administers Morocco with France and Italy."

"MANY PEOPLE at RKO still believe Willkie won," a film executive relates at the Mayan, "because someone hooked up a phony wire to a radio at the studio and broadcast that the vote had been miscounted in N. Y., N. J. and Penn. Hague resigned and Willkie was in. It was so realistic that bets were returned" . . . Ken Overlin, the middleweight champ, is introduced at the 38 Club—but gets little applause. "Stretch out on the floor," Frankie Hyers suggests, "so they'll recognize you" . . . "Well, I have a writing offer—but I won't take it," Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., informs at downtown Cafe Society. "They've asked me to write a magazine article called 'How It Feels to Be the Son of the President' . . . "There'll be no more celebrity nights in N. Y. night clubs, where stars entertain free," Alan Corelli of the Theater Authority assures at the Swing Club. "We stopped that forever last week."

"AT THE AUDITIONS for the singing role in my brother Moss' new show one man brought his own accompanist along." Benjie Hart reports at the Barbary Room. "Kurt Weill listened to him, stopped him and said he wouldn't do. The man smiled and said: 'I know. I've never sung before. You'll admit one thing, though—I have a lot of nerve, haven't I?' . . . "Elvis Ruskay, who does the solo performances at the Barbizon Plaza," a musician informs at La Conga, "has two children six and eight years old. She rehearses her routines before them. If they like it, then she decides it'll be all right for the adult customers."

JILL ESMOND

SOLILOQUY BY STRATOSPHERE: Arrived here (Hollywood) Monday a. m. via airliner, begins a communique from Tom Hartly, the Greater Boston boy whose dancing legs and comic gab are doing ambassadorial work at Victor Hugo's Beverly Hills restaurant . . . You will be able to judge from Tom's cross-country dialogue that he is never at a loss for words.

ACCORDINGLY, ON THE EYE—almost—of the Georgetown-Boston College game, it may turn out that Mr. Hartly's diplomatic work can be conducted on two fronts . . . The first, of course, is the Cinema Sector, where Tom should "sell" himself.

THE SECOND FRONT IS THE ROSE BOWL front . . . Mr. Hartly is a loyal "Bald Eagle," that objectionable designation of Boston College "old grads" which rightfully is resented by many alumni whose hair-line manginess still to border the brow-line . . . Mr. Hartly's value on the Rose Bowl front depends greatly on what happens Saturday at Fenway Park . . . But in case . . . just in case the Leahymen do win, it may prove fairly handy to have a devoted alumnus like Tom out there in full public view.

ALL THAT COMES LATER . . . Currently, we are concerned with passing along an entertainment diary of Tom's western trip via stratosphere—a running-story—proof that air travel is a great leveler . . . For Tom's first encounter in sociability was none other than the celebrated Countess Dorothy Di Frasso, Hollywood's hostess extraordinaire, and the lady who took over as the town's social leading lady at the abatement of Pickfair by Mary Pickford . . . So . . .

"THERE WERE A COUPLE of sidelights you might enjoy hearing about," Mr. Hartly continues . . . "First I had Seat 8 in the tail of the ship and sitting in the same booth with me and looking me right in the bangs over the dinner table was the Countess Dorothy Di Frasso . . . She had floated aboard with four varieties of furbies, a handbag that looked like a knapsack (and served the same purpose) a group of boxes, a couple of bags and two friends and a swell sense of humor."

"WE DINED TOGETHER AND HERE'S something for the game warden . . . During the main course, I was forced to kill a fly at about 10,000 feet (=altitude, not range . . .) The fly dropped into the Countess's dressing. (Note: salad) . . . In the morning, after putting around and looking out windows and stuff, I decided that maintenance of my aerial aplomb demanded a shave."

"WELL, ON EARTH—I have been a devotee of the manual type of whisker-scraper . . . But a chap I was sitting with at the time, rang for the stewardess and requested an electric razor . . . I will cut it short . . . I had never used an electric scythe before . . . My advice for other novitiates is not to introduce your face to an electric razor in the rear end of a big bumping bullet seven thousand feet over the Southern California canyons."

"WHEN I GOT THRU, (or rather when I quit), my face looked as if someone had hit me with a tureen of fish scales . . . Undoubtedly, however, I had saved my neck . . . It was bumpy . . . To get down to business, I did not open Nov. 5, but Nov. 7 . . . But the place was right—Victor Hugo's . . . I do not stay there 10 weeks, as the wire led me—and you—to believe . . . I remain but four weeks . . . The other six I spend in San Francisco, (working, we presume)

"EXACTLY WHITE ONLY RUDY VALLEE knows—and he has forgotten to tell me . . . The 10 weeks mentioned in the contract did not specify a special nightclub, but just so much for so much . . . And so—so much for that . . . I'm staying with Rudy at present, and as you know, he is one swell host . . . To conclude . . . You are certainly familiar with the Hollywood chatter items in the newspapers such as: 'Carol Lombard went shopping at Gleng's today and was unrecognized by the shopping throngs' . . . I pulled the same stunt."

WELLES TO MAKE
MEXICAN FILM

By Louella O. Parsons

Orson Welles

CHICAGO, Nov. 12—Talked with Orson Welles, who is on his way to Des Moines to deliver a lecture. He and Paul Draper, the dancer, came to see our show and Orson came backstage to assure me I was right in denying the rumor he was tired of Hollywood. In fact, he was very enthusiastic about a new idea (which isn't unusual for him) but it's interesting in that it concerns Mexico. His picture, he said, will be a melodrama laid in Dolores Del Rio's country.

Orson didn't mention Del Rio—but knowing that romance is hotter than ever I suspect the Mexican idea came to him because of his admiration for the beautiful Mexican girl and I have a hunch he will star her. As for the Welles also told me he has a bit of a problem, there, in ten days more he takes on "Citizen Kane" and Sam Goldwyn will not lend him George Toland, the cameraman, who helped him produce it. Of course, I don't know what assignment Mr. G. has for Toland, but Orson is really worried.

HENRY KOSTER's next for Universal is supposed to be a task secret. There isn't a title so far but Henry is in New York now looking for beautiful unknowns (Yes, to play even the top roles in a technicolor extravaganza along the lines of the "Ziegfeld" girl shows. If he can sell exhibitors on the idea, Koster doesn't want a single Hollywood "name" in the cast. What an opportunity for some undiscovered plunger girls to register and at the same time get the benefit of being directed by one of Hollywood's best megaphones.

SNAPSHOTS OF CHICAGO COLLECTED AT RANDOM: The Pump Room is certainly gay. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bering gave us a party there after the show and it was really an occasion. He and Ernie Byfield certainly know how to entertain. Jack Dempsey and T. Netter were there and so many of my old friends. Even with all the smartly dressed women, I don't think any looked better than our own Brenda Joyce, Ilona Massey and Binnie Barnes.

THE HOWARD MAYERS have really laid down the velvet carpet for us and made our stay an eventful one. Mrs. Mayer was formerly premiere danseuse of the ballet of the Chicago Opera and "Howie" is in charge of the popular Ambassador West and the Sherman Hotels.

EVERYWHERE I go I hear about Betty Grable and Victor Mature. Their romance here is sizzling. Really, I am sorry to hear, isn't as nice to the newspaper people as she used to be.

TOM HARMON, No. 1 football player of the season, has been escorting Margie Weaver hither and yon in Chicago; Harry Brand stopped off between planes and the Howard Mayers, Jack Mulcahy and I had dinner with him.

IF WAS really old home week, for I had no more than greeted Harry when I walked Dave Lipton on his way back to the Coast. He tells me he has been made advertising manager of Columbia. It is a wonderful promotion but we will hate to lose him in Hollywood.

OSCAR ALEXANDER, vice president of Chicago of Westmore's New York office, also paid us a backstage visit and so did Minna Wallis. We said "Hi" to her to Bob Slack, who returned to Hollywood for "Nazi Girl." Bob has been so popular and we hate to see him go—but we welcomed Robert Cummings, who stepped into the show as if he had been rehearsing for weeks.

Casserole Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

Serve a "meat extender" casserole occasionally that lets no one in on the secret that one of its functions is to cut down on the meat requirement with no sacrifice of food enjoyment. Corn meal casserole requires only one-half pound of chopped or ground round steak, due to the rich emphasis of chopped or sliced ripe olives and grated cheese.

Among other well appreciated wholesome qualities, yellow corn meal has good vitamin A values, whereas white corn meal is credited with none. Ripe olives form another source of vitamin A, from this recipe, along with chopped green pepper and grated cheese.

Ready-prepared chopped or sliced ripe olives are conveniently just right for the finely cut texture of the sauce ingredients. Or cut from the pits of whole fruit of inexpensive size, and chop to this same consistency.

CORN MEAL CASSEROLE WITH RIPE OLIVES

- 1 cup corn meal
- 3 cups boiling salted water
- $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt
- 1 tbsp. fat
- 1 small chopped green sweet

- $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. chopped round steak
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped ripe olives
- 2 cups tomato sauce
- 1 cup grated quick melting

American cheese.
All corn meal, except to boiling water, strain, carefully to prevent lumping, cook 10 minutes. Melt fat in frying pan, add oil, pepper and onion. Add a few minutes with onion and pepper. Cover and add meat and tomato sauce. Add olive oil and tomato sauce to meat mixture. Put half of the cooked corn meal in a greased baking dish and add layer of meat and tomato mixture and cover with remainder of cooked corn meal. Cover top with cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 30 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Macaroni products are grand "extenders" also. They may be added to more expensive foods or combined with left-overs. In any case, they make even the simplest foods taste tempting and add extra food value as well.

EGG NOODLE RING WITH CREAMED SEA FOOD

- 1 pkg. egg noodles
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cups hot milk
- 1 cup cracker crumbs
- 4 tbsp. butter
- 1 pimiento, chopped
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt

Dish of pepper and onion. Cook egg noodles, with milk, in a boiling salted water. Drain. In a bowl, mix cracker crumbs and butter. Add pimiento and cheese. Mix and add to noodles. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 30 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

You Can Be Beautiful

Check the Look of Age

By ARLINE GOULD

THERE'S undreamed-of power for checking the look of age... sagging, creped texture... in an astringent... but not in any astringent. We've discovered one which, to the knowledge of everyone we've consulted, has no parallel in the cosmetic world.

For one thing... it has no alcohol... and there is a singular absence of "bite," which is the way you usually detect this ingredient. It therefore has not the drying tendencies of alcohol.

Its remarkable "closing" up of stretched, creped skin... its marvelous way with large pores, flabby skin and fine lines (especially the type that come after fast reducing) are all attributed to a certain medical preparation.

And when you investigate this astringent and learn about its principal ingredient you'll be amazed at the sound, good sense basis of its miracle-making!

Almond oils are used generously in the formula, to prevent the least possibility of drying effect... which actually is often responsible with some astringents for nullifying the good of their "tightening" accomplishments.

And if your throatline has been slipping... you can concoct a grand salon tie-up treatment with a ribbon of gauze or bandage and some cotton... for this astringent lotion is definitely of the salon treatment calibre which does things for you! Just dip cotton in cold water, squeeze it out, then pick up some astringent lotion with it, bind the pledge under your chin... and twenty minutes every day for ten days... stop awhile... and ten more days... is said to do some astounding things for bad throatlines!

If you'd like to learn all about this unique astringent lotion, exclusive to one Boston shop, phone Arline Gould, LiBerty, 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MR. JOHN S. LAWRENCE of Gravelly Brook Farm, Topsfield, one of the North Shore's top ranking yachtsmen, has assumed benedict honors again.

Yesterday he was married to Mrs. Helen Putnam Kellogg of Beacon st., at a quiet family wedding in the chapel of St. Peter's Church, Cambridge. . . The bridegroom's uncle, Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Bishop Emeritus of Massachusetts, officiated, and a small wedding breakfast followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Putnam of Cambridge. . .

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence departed by motor to spend the winter at his home at Boca Grande, Florida.

Mr. Lawrence is the father of Mrs. James Parker, 24 (Abbel Lawrence), who at the age of nine or ten joined the ranks of that exclusive group of women who have "danced with the Prince of Wales (now the Duke of Windsor)".

At the time of Eddie's famous visit to the North Shore was a house guest of Abbel's parents and she was allowed to stay up late one evening to dance with him. . .

Mrs. Parker, now the president of Boston's famous Vincent Club, attended her father's wedding yesterday together with her hubby, her brother Amory, a member of the fourth estate in Washington, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Gardner of Wenham. . .

Others at the wedding were the bride's sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. John Woodbridge of Marblehead, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Knowlton, Jr., of Brookline and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Scott of Huntington, L. I. . .

Mr. Lawrence, a Harvard '01 graduate, is director of several Boston banks and industrial concerns. . . His yacht Moose has crossed the finish line with flying colors in many a big sailing race at Marblehead, and two summers ago Mr. Lawrence was host to the Crown Prince of Norway on board the Moose. . .

Motley-Howard Ceremony Revealed

NEWS OF ANOTHER marriage comes as a pleasant surprise to Boston and North Shore society. . . On Saturday, Mr. E. Preble Motley of South Hamilton was married very quietly in Portland, Maine, to Mrs. Frances Howard of New York. . . The couple will make their home at Mr. Motley's estate, Longham. . . It is the father of Mrs. Herbert Jaques, Jr. (Marjorie Motley) and of E. Preble Motley, Jr., and is a prominent member of the Myopia Hunt Club. . .

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"WHAT can I believe?" she says. I want to know the truth about the world. What can I find? I read a dozen books. Each writer says something different. They contradict each other. Which one is right— which one shall I believe?"

What can you believe? Believe what you can use. Believe that which seems to belong to you.

You are not like anyone else on earth. You have different ideas, different needs. You are not even like your own self. But which you were at the last year or even yesterday. You have changed a certain way of thinking. Peculiar to you. And you must today. You alone know what these needs are. You alone can make what will supply these needs. The facts that a thing is, are not your needs. It is only your needs that will make a thing yours.

THE THING which a truth for itself is not. But truth will have to do with you and who you are. You will not do this any more. It is only your needs that will make a thing yours.

Each man must discover his own truth for himself.

How can you know it when you find it?

You will know it as you know your own coat, your own home. It will fit you. It will do something for you. It will make it easier for you to be to the world and to the world.

Seek the words that fit you.

Take the Truth YOU can use wherever YOU find it. But do not hold on to any Truth too long. Do not try to find a Truth that will last you through your life. Do not feel that you must believe a thing today because you believed it last year. . . or fear to change your ideas and standards lest you seem inconsistent.

KEEP on changing! Keep on growing! Keep on demanding new and larger Truths.

For, remember this—there is no one, fixed ultimate standard of Truth.

Truth is like Life—endlessly proceeding—endlessly unfolding. And he who would follow the Truth will certainly raise Cain with your status quo.

What shall you believe?

Believe that which you can use. Believe that which fits your needs—today. Use that Truth until you can find a bigger one. And so go on. But be prepared to take the consequences.

Quick, Blondie, the Vacuum Cleaner!

What Has Happened:

A FIFTH COLUMN blitzkrieg is under way in England led by an elusive AJAX who is more menacing than Stuka bombers to the defense of the realm. The confessed treason of MARA, ace English spy, followed by the murder of CAPT. HUGH KENLEY, have put SIR JOHN SANDERSON, British Intelligence chief, in a bad situation.

Sir John's ward, BRINDA DUNCAN, had given a lift in her car to a limping stranger whom she mistook for an Englishman. But he was a Nazi parachutist and, when leaving Brinda's car, he shot Capt. Kenley. . . Brinda met LIEUT. RICHARD MALDEN, a former bean, in the Intelligence Office's "rogues' gallery." He told her that his engagement to GLADYS, daughter of Lord and Lady Mountwain, is to be announced that evening.

Brinda had unpleasant memories of Gladys as a schoolmate. But Sir John and his ward went to the Mountwain party, where Gladys proudly showed off PRINCE VASLAV, described by Dick as "a sort of society entertainer." During a Vaslav-directed "blackout dance," Colonel Sanderson was stabbed.

While Brinda administered first aid, her wounded guardian warned her to be "Careful!" Then DR. MACDONALD arrived to treat his old friend. When they are alone, Sir John murmurs, "I'll tell you something I couldn't tell any other living man."

Now Continue:

DR. MACDONALD listened closely as his old friend, Sir John, told his extraordinary story.

"You know Kenley was killed by a Nazi spy. Well, that spy reached England by airplane—dropped down in a parachute over Watford at night. A girl picked him up in a motorcar and drove him into London. That girl, Alec, was . . . Brinda."

"You dinna say?" MacDonald's bushy brows went up in astonishment. "That's bad, John. Small wonder you're not been looking yourself with a thing like that on your mind. But surely the girl didn't know what she was doing. The fellow fooled her, of course."

"Yes."

"Then," said the doctor practically, "it's a secret between you and the lass and I'll be naught to worry over."

Sander son gazed at his friend in something like anguish. "Alec, you know my past means more to me than just a title and a little extra pay. It involves the safety of England, protecting her from spies and so-called Fifth Columnists—traitors, high and low, misguided radicals and rebels, Fascists and Nazis and Communists—some of them from abroad and some of them, God help us, men who sport titles and help govern us! It's a wearing, thankless job, but I treasure it because it's for England. My private life—my private feelings—mean nothing compared to my country's welfare. There'll be no peace for me, alive or dead, if I fail in any way to discharge my trust—even though it should mean hating someone near and dear to me. You understand?"

"Tosh, man!" There was exasperation in the doctor's protest. "Stuff and nonsense! If you were a well man, I might lose my temper."

CHL-CHES-TERS PILLS

MATA HARI'S Daughter

by MAURICE DEKOBRA and LEVLA GEORGIE

You're chasing shadows if you suspect that girl, even for a moment. Why, John, this eternal hunt for spies must be going to your brain. For one thing, the girl thinks the sun rises and sets on you. But even more than that, she's the daughter of Andy Duncan and there's no treachery in that line!

"Easy, Alec. I didn't say I suspect her. God knows I would almost as soon suspect myself!"

"Then why all this nonsense—this palaver about murder and heredity?"

BRINDA HISTORY

"I'm coming to that. You and I both knew Andrew Duncan and you're right, Alec; there was no braver, loyaler man in India. I should know best . . ."

Sir John's voice trailed off into silence and his voice became a whisper. Under the spell of memory, his thoughts made a backward leap of fifteen years . . .

Back to a sweltering, fateful night in the Indian jungle—the jungle that was so like this new and terrible warfare . . . singular and silent and mysterious, with death likely to spring at any moment. Brinda's father, the handsome young Duncan advancing too soon upon the tiger that had fallen to his gun . . . The vengeful roar of the wounded man-eater—a single tremendous spring . . . And then Duncan's voice gasping with his last breath . . .

Bloody thing to do . . . sorry . . . take care of my kid, old man . . . "Alec," he said, "I never told you about Brinda's mother. She left Andy Duncan when Brinda was a baby. Her real name was—" and he whispered the name that once had rung round the world—the name of a notorious, beautiful and deadly woman. I have their marriage certificate . . ."

Brinda, in spite of her bonds, contrived to throw herself upon the gunman let me have a last look at those dressing . . . Excellent . . . and here's a wee pill to make sure you sleep sound. I'll see you the morrow."

His head drooped in thought; the physician sat motionless until the steady tempo of Sir John's breathing attested that the sedative had done its work. Then Dr. MacDonald rose and walked with slow, careful steps to a window, standing and looking out into the night. Hands clasped behind his broad back, he muttered deep as a muted organ . . .

"Brinda . . . daughter of Mata Hari . . . By Heavens, I can hardly believe it!"

Once outside the bedroom, Brinda knew the path she wished to take. Down the broad stairs, a turn at the end of the spacious hall, then across the dark shrub-bordered terrace. A dank, autumn mist had settled down, and the terrace appeared deserted.

Brinda shivered as the clammy garment of fog touched her bare shoulders. She hastened her steps until they brought her almost to the brilliantly-lighted drawing-room.

VOICES IN DARK

Before her loomed the do-
way through which Sir John had been carried. The doors of leaded glass, stood a little ajar. Through them, Brinda thought with a sudden surge of anger, the unseen assassin had perhaps escaped. Or, for that matter, he might still be in the drawing-room. He might be one of the dancers—a servant, perhaps—a member of the orchestra. Anything was possible in this enigmatic Mountwain household.

Pausing in the shadow of a tall cypress of boxwood evergreens Brinda peered into the crowded room, hoping to see the strong, studious face and tall, competent figure of Dick Malden. But they were not among the many faces and figures that drifted past. She made a final tentative step toward the half-open door . . .

Then, at the sudden sound of a man's voice, arrestingly near at hand, she shrank swiftly back into the protecting shadow of the shrubbery.

She remained perfectly still—frozen into silence by something alien and furtive in the tone of the unseen speaker. In a moment, another man's voice answered. Then, for the first time Brinda knew why

"But who could have guessed the old fellow would be so quick? Why, he's as strong as a bull!" came a low voice from beyond the shrubbery.

There followed some German words which, despite a thorough course in that language at Miss Cartwright's, Brinda could not understand.

Then: "No good crying about it."

It was the voice she had first heard, heavy and rasping. It was a peculiar muffled quality. "At least we have the cipher book. Also we know where Mountwain stands . . . Engländer sind Schweine alle—How soon peeing it would be to wipe them all out with an air-bomb!"

"The day will come . . . Let them play and talk big now. It gives us time to work. Besides, a bomb tonight might kill some of our good friends."

"That reminds me . . . where is he?"

"Talk lower," ordered the man with the strangely muffled voice.

Brinda could not hear the reply that followed. But she had heard enough, to know that she had stumbled upon the clue to the strange happenings of the evening.

She forgot the chill of the enfolding mist—forgot that these were desperate men, ripe for murder. She felt as frightened only eagerness and the desire to hear more.

However, they were being more cautious now and she could understand only an occasional word or phrase. Several times she distinguished the name Mara. She remembered with a thrill that it was the name of the missing Intelligence Agent—the woman whose recent treachery even how threatened Sir John with official disgrace.

Twice, too, she heard the name of Himmler, chief of the grim German Gestapo . . . Something was said about getting a steamship passage for certain Franklin. But this time the name was inaudible.

The half-heard colloquy caused her to bite her lip in a pittance. In her anxiety, she pressed forward against the evergreens. A dead twig broke with a sharp snap

"Nanu!" exclaimed one of the two voices. "Schnell! see who is there."

A stealthy foot sounded and a hulking, gray figure loomed out of the night.

Brinda opened her lips to scream. Before a sound issued, a hand was pressed firmly across her mouth from behind. Fingers of steel pinched her arms behind her back. She struggled with all her might, finally sinking her teeth into the hand that closed her lips. She was rewarded by an angry "Verflucht!" and a solid box on the ear.

Will Brinda escape with her life? What are the spies plotting? Don't miss tomorrow's thrilling chapter.

PECK NAMED CLEVELAND MANAGER Farley Sees 29

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12 (INS)—Roger Peckinpaugh was named manager of the Cleveland Indians today, succeeding Oscar Vitt.

Peckinpaugh, Indian manager from 1928 until he was fired in June, 1933, was appointed officially at a luncheon given by Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club, who said the new pilot had signed a two-year contract.

Peckinpaugh the favorite to become manager after Stanley (Bucky) Harris signed another contract to pilot the Washington Senators, was the first Cleveland manager under Bradley who purchased the Cleveland interests in 1928.

"PUBLIC FIRES HIM"

Bradley issued the new famous statement when he dismissed Peckinpaugh in 1933, that "the owner only hires the manager; the public fires him."

Since leaving the Indians, "Peck" has had two minor league managerial berths, at Kansas City in 1934 and New Orleans in 1935. At present he is connected with the American League Promotion Bureau.

Peckinpaugh becomes one of the few baseball managers to gain a second chance at the helm of a major league ball club.

Born in Cleveland 30 years ago, "Peck" started his baseball career with the old Cleveland Nats in 1916, but soon was traded to the New York Americans to become one of the greatest shortstops in organized ball.

In 1922 he was traded to the Washington Senators and in 1925 was voted the most valuable player in the American League.

He moved to Chicago in 1927 and one year later was offered the management of the Indians.

JUNE REBELLION

Ever since Oscar Vitt was discharged a couple of weeks ago the chief speculation of the baseball world has been the question of his successor.

Vitt was fired as a result of the now famous "June rebellion," in which more than half the Indians went to Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Baseball Co., and said:

"We can't win for Oscar Vitt."

Despite the fact that the Tribe went on an almost unprecedented winning streak, they finished second by one game to the Detroit Tigers in the American League.

Vitt obviously was cut. Vitt's dismissal was announced at a club director's meeting last month, but Bradley at that time refused to name his successor. The matter rested until today, with various names mentioned and put forward by Cleveland's numerous downtown managers.

Chief among the possibilities besides Peckinpaugh, were Luke Sewell, Indian coach and former catcher, and Rogers Hornsby. Also mentioned was a dark horse, whose name was not revealed.

Rain Halts Hive Games

Today's football double-header at National League Park—Hyde Park vs. Boston College High, South Boston vs. Trade—was called off this afternoon due to the rain.

The South Boston game will be played tomorrow as part of a twin bill with Brighton and Roxbury Memorial.

Alice Marble Turns Pro

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (INS)—Alice Marble, queen of the tennis world, announced that today that she had signed a contract to turn professional and would start a nationwide tour at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 6.

ON YOUR MARK. Bruins front line of Eddie Wiseman (7), Art Jackson (16) and Herb Cain (14) prepares to steam down ice in practice session. Bruins play home opener with Chicago Black Hawks at Garden tonight. In first league game, Bruins tied Canadiens, 1-1. They trounced Boston's Olympics, 11-1, in Arena tuneup Sunday afternoon.

Bruins Open At Garden With Hawks

By BILL GRIMES

A young, scrappy and elusive tribe of Blackhaws from Chicago, will open the 1940-41 National Hockey League season tonight against the Bruins at the Boston Garden.

Manager Art Ross stood pat on his 1939-40 N. H. L. champions, for, in his opinion, the Stanley Cup would be back in the Hub but for the fact that his Bruins were riddled by injuries last spring.

"A year ago I felt that the Bruins were the best club in the N. H. L.," commented Manager Ross today, "and, despite the fact that I didn't bring up a rookie, I believe we are even better this season. And I'll prove my contention before the race is over."

The Bruins opened the season ten days ago in Montreal, playing a 1-1 tie with Les Canadiens, who, on that evening, at least, were an inspired aggregation of puck chasers. Since their opener, the Bruins have played two exhibition games with amateur clubs.

DUMART ON SHELF

Unfortunately, Woodie Dumart will not be able to play today. He is out of the lineup with a serious knee injury, suffered in the Les Canadiens game. Bill "Flash" Hollett, the outstanding utility man in the N. H. L., will be at left wing on the Kraut line.

Cowley Weiland will open with the Cowley line, Cowboy Bill centering for Roy Conacher and Mel Hill and he'll have Capt. "Dit" Clapper and Jack Shewchuk on the outer defense and Frankie "Zero" Brimsek in the nets. Art Jackson, Herbie Cain and Eddie Wiseman will be the first front line replacements and then the Krauts, Bob Bauer, and Milt Schmidt and Hollett pinch-hitting for Dumart, will make their appearance. Des Smith and Jack Crawford will spell for Clapper and Shewchuk.

HAWKS BEAT CANADIENS

Fresh from their 3 to 1 victory over Les Canadiens, the Blackhaws are confident of giving the Bruins a trimming. They played fine hockey in Montreal Sunday night. In fact, any N. H. L. club that beats Bert Gardiner, the new goal guardian of the Flying Frenchmen, must be at the peak of its game.

Manager Paul Thompson, who piloted the Hawks into the playoffs after relieving Bill Stewart last season, has retained just enough veterans to steady his recruits.

Farley Sees 29 Yank Farm

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12 (INS)—Joe Jim Farley, former postmaster-general and now a resident of the New York Yankees, was to leave Cleveland today to inspect the farm of the Yankees at Yonkers.

He is expected to see some of the best of the Yankees' farm team, the Yankees of the future.

"The Yankees lost last season because their pitching collapsed," Farley said.

"If anybody told you a year ago that Ruffing, Pearson and Gomez wouldn't win 25 games between them, you would have told him he was crazy, but that's what happened."

Farley said that Catcher Bill Dickey and Shortstop Frank Crosetti might be "near the end of the road" but that the Yankees had a great young catcher in Buddy Roser, and that by possibly moving Joe Gordon to third base they could make room for "a couple of great young infielders in Rizzuto and Freddy," now the Kansas City club's second base combination.

Hatlo M'KINNEY SHIFTED

TO HEIDEN'S BERTH

Harvard's "win" over Penn was a notable achievement on the basis of the Crimson's season record, but it left much sadness in its wake for the Harvard coaching staff. It will not be the same Harvard team to oppose the Bruins as the one which rode roughshod over the Quakers. The Harvard squad is battered and several of the key players will be forced to work very lightly this week.

Heiden played the whole game against the Red and Blue, but when the team arrived back in Cambridge it was discovered that the Harvard Hurricane had a very bad leg injury and at the present he is not being counted on for service against Tuss McLaughry's tough crew of gridmen.

Loren MacKinney will leave his favorite end post and take over the quarter back duties, Dick Harlow has announced, and Bill Barnes, a lanky soph end, will fill in at the flank. Mack is a great end but he is not very familiar at the blocking back position and cannot hope to come up to Heiden's performances.

Harvard's injury list continues at a fast pace. Joe Koufman is sporting a badly swollen hand and may have broken a bone. Burg Ayres and Dick Prister, two minute players against Penn, are badly battered and will be worked lightly this week.

Billy Brown, senior sub at full-back who played the best game of his career in Capt. Joe Gardella's berth, will be ready for action.

U. S. Rifle Association Official To Stress Safety in Hearst Shoot

Several facts of pertinent interest to the William Randolph Hearst Junior Rifle Trophy Competition are made known today in a letter just received by the rifle editor of the Boston American-Record from C. B. Lister, secretary-treasurer of the National Rifle Ass'n of America, whose office is in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Lister's remarks will be gladly received by parents of youths who naturally are most concerned with the safety factors of shooting. When he speaks about N. R. A. Junior Rifle Clubs he speaks about an organization which includes virtually every junior organization in New England and about factors which will be greatly stressed throughout the Hearst championships.

Lister's letter, in part, follows:
"The National Rifle Association

Junior Rifle Club organization and instruction plan is a system developed by the N. R. A. over the past 14 years to train competent adult supervisors as well as to train youngsters. I am sure you will be interested to know that under the operation of this plan approximately 165,000 boys and girls are now receiving instruction annually in the safe handling of firearms and in the entire 14 years of the program no boy or girl has suffered injury.

"We think we have proved that the careless handling of guns and the misuse of 22 calibre rifles by boys is entirely due to lack of proper training, under competitive adult supervision.

"The newspapers frequently carry reports of injuries or fatalities caused by boys at 'target practice.' Investigation invariably shows that the so-called target practice consisted of shooting at bottles, tin cans or other improvised targets.

"These are accidents which can be prevented if the kids are given proper range on which to shoot and a proper incentive to shoot, under instruction and discipline, in the form of qualification medals and other prize awards.

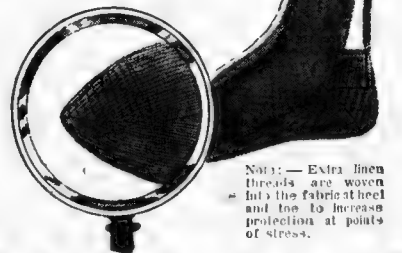

"It is a fact that no firearms accident has ever occurred on a summer camp range which was operating under a National Rifle Association charter.

"I believe that the Hearst Junior Rifle Trophy Competition will make many active boosters for the junior instruction plan."

In order that the records be straight, all competition in the Hearst shoot, both senior and junior, will be supervised by able, expert and experienced instructors and every precaution employed in National Rifle Association competition be taken.

MEN! Some socks, like some tires, wear longer than others! It all depends on how they're built.

Note: — Extra linen threads are woven into the fabric at heel and toe to increase protection at points of stress.

Linenized Toe Socks

Are Built to Wear Longer

MEN! You know why good tires wear longer. Here's the reason Linenized Toe Socks will give you longer wear. Strong, durable linen threads are woven into the fabric of the socks where wear is greatest . . . at toe and heel . . . The result? You have a sock that will stand the gaff long after you'd expect to throw them away.

Look for the GOLDEN TOE—your guarantee they "wear longer at toes and heels."

B. C. HOLDS PLACE IN GRID POLL

Minnesota's Golden Gophers, who don't win by much, but who don't let that stop them from winning, clinched another notch in national ratings today.

The Gophers ousted Cornell from the lead in the fast-moving race to determine the country's No. 1 football team. After Cornell had been on top for four successive weeks in the Associated Press ranking poll, the tide swung Minnesota's way this week as 55 out of 148 experts from coast to coast put Minnesota at the head of the list and one other split the honors among Minnesota, Cornell and 1939's top team, Texas A. & M.

These three placed in that order—Minnesota, first with 1043 points; Cornell, second with 1200; the Aggies, third with 1202. First place went to Stanford, only other team to poll more than 1000 points with 1066.

PHOTO FINISH

The race promises to be as close as a closer fight down to the wire for each of the four favorites. It has two games left between it and a perfect season, and they are the type of games in which they can't afford to ease up.

Minnesota plays two Western Conference rivals, Purdue this Saturday and then Wisconsin, and Cornell has dates with ancient Ivy League foes, Dartmouth and Princeton, scheduled for Penna. Their tasks, comparatively, do not look as tough as the assignments facing the Texas Aggies, who still must get by Rice and Texas, and Stanford, which has up-and-coming Oregon State and California on its slate.

The two junes of the week have never strayed from the top four lower to mid-range of the list. In the last week, Michigan, 10th place, Notre Dame, 11th, and Stanford, 12th, were the only teams to move up. Michigan, Notre Dame and Stanford, all of whom played one of the top four teams, showed up in the top five of the poll. The Gophers' success, Notre Dame's.

EAGLES VS. HOYAS

At Boston, it will be eighth-place Boston College against ninth-place Georgetown, the only game of the week involving two major teams which are unbeaten and untied and the one that should prove once and for all just how highly these clubs, which so far have breezed by mediocre opposition, deserve to be rated. It should, by all accounts, be a throwback to the old Boston College-Holy Cross, clambakes that were a New England tradition for bruising play.

The other two of the week seem to have a distinct edge over their Saturday rivals. Tennessee, leading for its third straight week, and you without a loss, edged Duke this week, will meet Virginia, who is seventh place. Notre Dame will face an unbeaten Iowa.

The most up of the list, Cornell, was unchanged from its week ago. The reshuffling saw Minnesota and Cornell change places. Texas A. & M. came up from 14th to 13th, Stanford from 15th to 12th, Michigan, who came from third, and Princeton, Notre Dame, Boston College, and Stanford.

Sticks to Gridiron

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 12 (AP)—Kyle Gillespie, Texas Christian back from Paris, Tex., pitches football pretty successfully for the Horned Frogs. Last summer, he tried his hand at pitching baseball for the East Texas Oil Company team. Kyle's mound career last three innings, during which he was nicked for ten hits.

Sport-O-Grimes

On their last appearance against Boston College at Fenway Park, Georgetown's Hoyas didn't attract enough cash customers to pay the guarantee. So, they were dropped for business reasons. However, the B. C. A. A. won't have any trouble digging up the Hoyas' cut next Saturday. There are approximately 7000 unsold tickets for the B. C.-Georgetown classic. Naturally, the better seats have been disposed of but within a couple of days any ducat will be as welcome as though it was on the 50 yard line, for the game will be a complete sell-out.

Although the Bruins have played only one game, Bill "Flash" Hollett has a name to pick with Pres. Frank Calver. He feels (and so do his mates) that he should have been credited with an assist on Milt Schmidt's goal against Les Canadiennes.

You haven't seen him, if you don't know that Hi Mason is a grand puppy. . . . Manager Paul Thompson figures to have his young Hawks right up in the N. H. L. all winter.

For his size and weight, Joe Arico, the Big Green midge back from Belmont, is a marvel. And, a very durable one. . . . Now that Harvard has tied Penna, all of the old boys are back on the band wagon. Dick Harlow believes he has a defense which will stop Tex. McLaughry's Brown Bears. Wouldn't that be something?

Freddie Stack, the Red Sox lefty, is working at Camp Devens. His training flight came from midnight until 7 a. m. . . . Vince Orlando, Johnny's brother, who has charge of the visiting club

Joe Geary, the No. 2 baseball fan in these parts, hasn't been himself since the World Series. But he'll be all right from now until after the Stanley Cup series. . . . For, like all boys from home, Joe is a rabid hockey fan. To this day, Joe still claims he saw Austin O'Connor, the M. P. C. commissioner, playing defense for the Toronto Maroons years ago.

There isn't any danger of Cornell entering the Dartmouth game with a surprisingly complex. There's too much rivalry between the Big Red and the Big Green for anything less than a fight.

There's a good reason for the Bruins' loss to the Olympics, particularly after playing a "u" with the Canadian Senators. Believe that Russell Godwin and the Bruins' defense line lost to the three Canes. BILL GRIMES

St. Mark's, Groton in 52nd Meeting

The oldest private school football series will be resumed tomorrow afternoon at Groton when St. Mark's and Groton meet for the 52nd time.

This ivy-cradled rivalry was begun way back in 1888, and, with the exception of a few years, the two schools have been going at it ever since. To date, Groton holds the edge in the series, winning 32 to 17 for St. Mark's.

Sporting a much better record for the present campaign than its rivals, Groton will enter the fray a heavy favorite.

The Gruties went through their first five games without a setback, winning four and losing one, but last week were toppled from the undefeated class by Milton Academy, a team that lost earlier in the season to St. Mark's.

Coach Richard Sawyer and his St. Mark's outfit were on the winning side once, losing four others and playing Belmont Hill to a scoreless tie in another.

last year, was beaten, 26 to 20, by the Saints.

Coach Larry Noble has but three players who started against St. Mark's in his starting lineup. They are Hugo Knowlton and Buzz Cochran in the backfield and Capt. Fred Whitridge in the line.

Knowlton, who excels in punting, passing and running, has been the star throughout the campaign. It was he who featured Groton's 27 to 20 victory two years ago, scoring three touchdowns.

BEGLEY AHEAD FOR ZIVIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—It looks like the coffee-and-cake days are just about over for Fritz Zivic.

From here on, provided some fellow doesn't knock his case off, the youngest of the five Zivics figures to mix a little steak and possibly a spot or two of caviar in his flat diet, particularly in his Friday night party in Madison Square Garden with Al Davis, of Brooklyn's Brownsville section.

For ten years, Fritz has been knocking all around the fight game, even making the white stops. But the pay days were nothing to call an armored car about. Even when he whipped gallant Henry Armstrong to take the world welterweight championship, his share did not do much to cure the anemia from which his bank account had been suffering.

But in his first New York showing since taking the title, Pittsburgh Fritz has rolled a seven in the matter of an opponent. Davis has been one of the strongest gate attractions in Pa. Knickerbocker's ballroom for a year now, simply because the cash customers are willing to pay $100 to see "Bummy" fight his block knocked off.

Pupils Cleared In Football Riot

Students were involved and on sides blamed today for the wild riot following the annual Cambridge High and Latin School and Rindge Technical school football game in which a police officer was beaten and three youths arrested. Women and children were knocked down and fists swung wildly at the conclusion of the game on Russell Field, North Cambridge, won by Rindge Tech 13 to 0.

Special Officer Thomas H. Leary, a spectator in the stands, showed his badge to quell several fights but finally was forced to arrest one youth. Two others came to his rescue, while an unidentified man punched Leary in the eye.

JEFFS SHOOT WORKS AGAINST WILLIAMS

AMHERST, Nov. 12 The Lord Jeffs of Amherst today settled down to their most extensive series of practice sessions as they prepared to shoot the works this Saturday when they play host to Williams, top choice to annex the Little Three laurels for 1940.

Kentucky-Breds N. Y. Show Stars

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Your Kentuckian, huh, is always ready and willing to tell you about the quality of his racing horses and his bourbon. But, for some reason or other, you rarely hear him boast of the saddle horses from the blue grass.

Yet, while English or Virginia or Maryland-bred racers might argue against the Kentucky runners' claim to the No. 1 spot, and Scotch or rye might be put up against bourbon in a competition, there is no place on earth, the folks at the current 55th national horse show insist, where saddle horses are bred any finer than in Old Kentucky.

Right now, they'll point to a chestnut lady named Lordland's Maid as evidence.

Showing under the colors of the Fair City stable of Mr. and Mrs. L. Victor Wolf of Elkhart, N. J., the eight-year-old mare has cleaned up in saddle horse competition from coast to coast the past three years, ever since she was purchased at Springfield, Ky.

She has won 174 blue ribbons in that time and last night, before a crowd of 10,000 at Madison Square Garden, she took the $750 championship three-gaited saddle horse stake for larger horses for the third straight year. She never has been beaten in the National.

The folks in the know also will point out American Royal, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Sawyer of Framingham, Mass., who took the blue in the competition for combination five-gaited saddle horses.

Both are by an American born, Kentucky-bred stallion which has created a fine line among saddle horses all over the show world.

Colby Again Shares Maine Grid Title

LEWISTON, Me., Nov. 12 (INS)—By topping Bates, 12 to 7, the Colby Mules today shared the Pine Tree State title for the second successive year with Bowdoin.

The Mules found victory the hard way. Trailing 6 to 0 with six minutes to play, a well-executed 10-yard pass into the end zone—LaFleur to Hegon—enabled Colby to detour defeat into victory and a half-portion of the Maine crown.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

THE 30,000 HOLIDAY crowd and $534,782 handle at Rockingham Park was additional proof of the popularity of horse racing in New England . . . The races were run off as near post time as possible on account of the early darkness . . . The eighth race started shortly after 4:30 p. m.

The handle would have easily topped $600,000 if it had been possible to give more time between races . . . Thousands of bettors were shut out but this could not be avoided because of the speed between races, and the old New England habit of many people waiting until the last minute before trying to place their wagers.

Mon Time, a Dave Wilson special, looked impressive winning from Sundodger and Two O Two . . . Mon Time entered the Armistice Day purse off some good races, while the favored Sundodger has not shown to advantage in recent starts . . . Personally I prefer a sound horse that is running well to a name horse who has been having trouble in his races . . . Jockey Ted Atkinson gave Mon Time a fine ride . . . There are many keen judges of jockeys who believe Atkinson is as skillful a jockey as Walter Taylor.

Berwyn showed a terrific burst of speed as he broke from the barrier in the third race, a six-furlongs sprint . . . Once in front Berwyn, under a strong ride from Jockey Taylor, never was headed.

Five more days at Rockingham and the New England racing season will close . . . The drive will then be to Bowie, Charles Town, and Florida with its silvery sands and warm night breezes . . . Dave Wilson will have his Bowie handicaps in Monday's Green Race Special of the Boston Evening American.

Bruce Wetmore of Suffolk Downs was a visitor at Rockingham and watched a race from the stewards' stand as the guest of Tom Thorp, Herman Conkling, Charley Stickney and Billy Almy, Jr. . . . Incidentally Almy, a famous amateur rider of a few years back, will ride Captain Hull in a jumping race at Topsfield a week from Saturday . . . Billy has been training for three weeks, and is down to 167 pounds and very fit.

The mutual record at the United Harts at Belmont showed that people will bet on steeplechase races . . . There were several daily handles of over $400,000 . . . When Dan Gurnett operated Agawam Park, he staged a steeplechase race once a week, and the event proved attractive . . . I always enjoyed the jumping races when they were held at The Country Club in Brookline in the days before legalized betting in Massachusetts.

All-America Boxing Off to a Good Start

I DROPPED IN at the Arena after coming from the races to see the first trial bouts in the all-America diamond belt championships being sponsored by the American-Record with the co-operation of the Irish-American A. A. . . . The calibre of the simon pures is better than a year ago . . . The indications are that this year's New England team will be the best to ever represent this section of the country in the Eastern finals that will be held in the Garden on Dec. 19 . . . There will be three more sets of trials for boys in the open classes and for novices . . . Then will come the New England finals at the Garden on Dec. 9 . . . The price scale through the New England finals will be 55 cents and $1.10 which is certainly giving the public full value for its money.

Gene Driscoll, chairman of the boxing committee of the New England A. A. U., acted as clerk of the scales at the opening trial tournament, and he kept the show moving at a rapid pace.

Items From My Private Notebook

ALLAN CORELLI of New York city, executive director of the American Guild of Variety Artists, made it possible for the committee in charge of the Eddie Mack testimonial dinner at the Copley Plaza to give without any expense the greatest floor show ever offered in this city . . . Corelli was anxious to do his part to add a little sunshine to the life of the famous promoter, publicity director and World War veteran who has lost his health.

Joe Rubin did a swell job keeping the show moving on schedule . . . There was not a single dull moment . . . Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald was a late arrival and after greeting Sergeant Mack he sang Sweet Adeline . . . It is seldom that the whole community has been so solidly behind a testimonial dinner.

The Harvard-Brown game at the Stadium on Saturday looks like an exceptionally good attraction in view of Brown's recent victory over the Army and the Crimson's 10-to-10 tie with Penn . . . There will be a large delegation here from Rhode Island for the game . . . It is expected that Governor-elect J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island will be in the Brown cheering section . . . The youthful Governor-elect is an enthusiastic sports fan.

DODGERS SPEND $519,000³³ FOR NEW PLAYERS

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (INS)—"We've paid out $519,000 for ball players to clubs other than our own farms in trying to build a pennant winner, and we're prepared to spend more," said

President Larry MacPhail today in discussing the Brooklyn Dodgers' latest transaction, bringing Kirby Higbe from the Philadelphia Phillies to bolster the Dodger pitching staff.

MacPhail airily tossed off the fact that the Dodgers gave up $100,000 and three players to land Higbe.

PHILLIES HOPELESS

With that he practically proclaimed all over again that the Dodgers are the most progressive club in baseball and that the Phillies are utterly and completely beyond redemption insofar as the league is concerned. They operate strictly to sell their livestock.

Sooner or later the Dodgers will win the National League pennant and, sooner or later, baseball will have to step in and decide what is to be done about the Phillies, which actually operate within the major league as farm clubs for the other clubs.

The sale of Higbe, currently one of the best right-handers in the business, must prove the point that eventually baseball must take official cognizance of such situations.

VITO GOES ALONG

In any event, the Dodgers outbid the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates, among others, to land Higbe—and possibly to land the pennant next season, if they can add a little outfield strength.

They gave up, besides $100,000 in cash, Pitchers Vito Tamulis and Bill Crouch and Catcher Thompson Livingston of the Springfield club, in the Eastern League.

Tamulis is a relief pitcher, Crouch was sent to Montreal on option last season and Catcher Livingston may be the gent of the same name who wound up in Africa, insofar as his baseball identity is concerned.

Higbe won 14 games for the last place Phillies last season, despite everything including the fact that the Phillies rarely ever win a ball game. He also led in strikeouts with 137.

In addition to Higbe, going back a few months, MacPhail also took First Baseman Dolph Camilli off the Phillies to help give the Dodgers one of the best infields in baseball, and he also brought in Outfielder Ducky Medwick from the St. Louis Cardinals, just to name a few.

Camilli, according to MacPhail, represented a cash outlay of $40,000, Medwick $132,500, plus players, and now Higbe $100,000.

The upshot of it all is that the Dodgers are building for a championship and the Phillies are building for a payday for the club officials, and let the devil take the hindmost among the fans, not to mention the foremost.

B. U. LOOKS FORWARD TO 2 WINS

Boston University has played 500 football to date with victories over Norwich, Upsala and Cincinnati against losses to Manhattan, Western Reserve and Boston College. Two games remain—of Springfield next Saturday and Western Maryland the following Saturday. Both games are at Weston and there's little reason to believe that the Hanleymen won't win both games and wind up with a season's record of five victories and three defeats which is most acceptable in Terrier circles.

SPRINGFIELD THREATS

Springfield comes next Saturday and the Gymnasts are weaker than they have been in years. They have defeated two foes in seven starts. They boast of victories over Mass. State and St. Lawrence, two very weak teams, and have been beaten by Rutgers, Northeastern, New Hampshire, Providence College and City College of New York.

On the surface it looks like a "breather" for the Hanleymen, but like any true college member, Coach Pat Hanley refuses to view the game that way.

EXPECT LETDOWN

"This college football is too uncertain," chirped Hanley this morning.

"We rose to great heights against Boston College Saturday and are certain to let down Saturday. If we are not up to par and Springfield turns in a great effort hoping to salvage a poor season, we are going to have our hands full."

Maybe he's right and maybe there may be quite a game at Weston Saturday even though the records do not seem to indicate that fact.

Leaping Violet Breaks Elbow

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—New York University's footballers, who haven't succeeded in capturing many headlines this season, are putting in a claim to fame based on a new way for a player to get injured just before a big game. Warren Klauer, reserve guard, attended a squad meeting Sunday night. On the way home he tried a short cut, leaped a hedge and fell. Now he has a broken elbow and won't be able to play against Penn State Saturday.

Princeton-Yale Backfield Stars On Sidelines

NEW HAVEN, Ct. Nov. 12 (INS) Yale continued its long practice sessions today for Saturday's contest with its ancient foe, Princeton.

Coach Ducky Pond expressed some concern over the report Capt. Harold Whitman and Quarterback Ray Anderson would not be ready for the game.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12 (INS)—With star Halfback Bob Jackson on the sidelines suffering a shoulder injury, the Princeton Tigers held a long scrimmage today preparing for Yale Saturday.

Coach Tad Wieman scrimmaged his reserves against the Jayvees and gave his varsity a long signal practice.

Behind Goal Posts

Fourth down and a yard to go deep in enemy territory . . . lucky is the quarterback who has a pilingdriving fullback handy for that first down smash over center . . . fellows like Kimbrough, Standley, and Holovak of the current season . . . remember Snake Ames of Princeton, Ted Coy of Yale, Harvard's Eddie Mahan, Kaw of Cornell, Hazel of Rutgers, Gipp of Notre Dame, Nevres of Stanford, Famiglietti of B. U., Bill Osmanski of H. C., Jumping Joe Savollet of Notre Dame, Smukler of Temple, Mikulak of Oregon and Bronko Nagurski of Minnesota . . . brother, two yards to those bruisers was near meat to a grizzly . . . both eaten up but fast.

BAUGH IN DIFFERENT ROLE. Sammy Baugh punts as well as he passes (well, almost) but few gridiron followers realize it. Here's the Redskins demon punting from behind his own goal line in Sunday's game with Brooklyn Dodgers. Looks like a good boot, too. Despite Sam's punting and his record 22 pass completions, the Redskins suffered their first defeat of the season, bowing to Jock Sutherland's Brooklyn Dodgers, 16-14. Full house of 33,846 saw game at Ebbets Field.

Leahy to Stay at B. C., He Informs Freshmen

Frank Leahy, Boston College football coach, will be back at the Heights again next fall, he told members of the freshman football team following the boys' victory over the Holy Cross freshmen, 20-9, at the Heights.

He spoke glowingly of the Eagles, and added: "I'm looking forward with delight to next spring and next fall, for rarely does a coach anticipate for the graduation from the freshman class of so outstanding a group of boys."

The Chestnut Hill yearling crowd ended its abbreviated season the possessor of four straight conquests. Besides yesterday's victim from Worcester, the Eagles edged Mariopolis (6-0), Dartmouth Frosh (12-9) and Boston University Freshmen (14-2) during the season.

Today the Eagles were back hard at work preparing the variety for its titanic clash with Georgetown. The stern opposition which the ambitious freshmen supply the variety each day is one reason Frank Leahy's Bowl-bound variety is the powerhouse that it is. The yearlings have given the variety more opposition than some of the opponents conquered by the big boys this season.

REDSKINS' OFFENSE PROS' BEST

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (INS).—Although they suffered their first setback of the season, the Washington Redskins still are the best offensive team in the National Professional League, according to statistics released.

The Redskins established two one-game passing records while losing to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 16 to 14. Sammy Baugh completed 23 passes to break the old mark of 21 completions, and the team connected for 25 passes for a total of 312 yards, which also broke a league record.

The Redskins now have completed 113 aeriels in 195 attempts for 59 per cent efficiency. The league record for passes completed over a season is 127 set by Cleveland last year.

Washington also remained the best offensive team in the league, with 2570 yards gained and 218 points scored.

Eagles Weak at Fullback Going Into Hoyas Clash

Now that it has been definitely established that Adolph "Butch" Kissell, rugged bucking back who injured his arm in the Boston University game, won't be ready to face Georgetown in the gridiron classic of the nation Saturday at Fenway Park Head Coach Frank Leahy's Boston College fullback worries have increased to the straining point.

The medics have diagnosed Kissell's injuries as a "severe elbow bruise and sprain." Coach Leahy, who suffered the same kind of injury when playing a rugged tackle game for Notre Dame a decade ago, knows all about that kind of injury. The Eagle mentor feels that he'll be lucky to have Kissell ready for the Auburn game.

The loss of Kissell is positively a severe blow to Boston College's chances of conquest Saturday. Though he has not been able to budge Mighty Mike Holovak from the first string fullback slot Kissell nevertheless, had played some important football for Boston College this season. Butch tallied two of the four touchdowns on Tulane.

Holovak, though he's expected to be ready for Saturday's game, is not in the best of shape. The leg muscle which he strained in the third period of the B. U. game has been bothering Mike ever since. Thus Bob Jauron, third stringer, is the only bucking back on the premises. Three weeks ago Jauron was a fullback. Accordingly his experience at the fullback post is limited.

In the three games in which he has worked the fullback slot, Jauron has shown real promise. Against a tired St. Anselm team he ripped to a pair of fourth period touchdowns. In the mud of Alumni Field Bob didn't do so badly against Manhattan. Last Saturday against B. U. Jauron carved out huge chunks of yardage—but when he wasn't carrying the ball it was obvious that his position was new to him. Time and again Bob appeared flustered in his overall actions. He's learning all the time though and with 190 pounds distributed over a six-foot frame Jauron has the physical requisites of a great fullback.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employees of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win or if you predict a tie game place the letter (T) in the space nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except that for which you predict a tie score. Write winners and losers average scores in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight Friday the day before the game. You need not buy a copy of the Record-American to enter this contest. Entries of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions $100.00 will be awarded the tying contestant whose average score calculations most nearly match with actual average scores on the game. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in accuracy, the most largest number of correct selections and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the game.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Monday, also days after the game. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1897, Boston, Mass. In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.

NOVICE KNOCKOUTS FEATURE FIRST ALL-AMERICA TRYOUT

A couple of quick knockouts in the trial and final bouts of the 147-pound novice class featured the opening of the first All-America tryout show at the Arena under the auspices of the Boston American-Record and the Irish-American A. A.

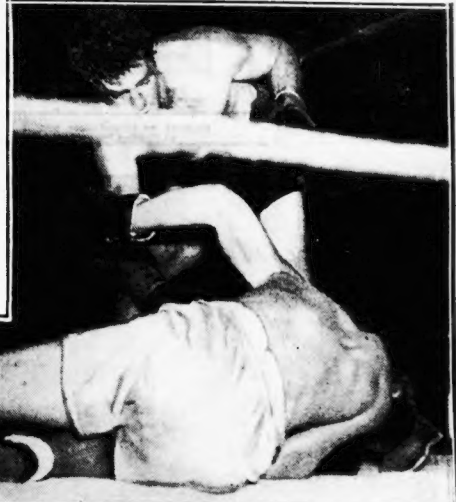

Dick Fitzgibbon, a red-headed CCC novice from Becket, used up only 20 seconds in kayoing Marty Barrett of Boston.

Then, in the final, Irving Luce of Boston gave Fitzgibbon a taste of K. O. powder by flattening the CCC youngster in a minute and a half with a wild punch to the chin.

Although the bouts, last night, only were the first eliminations in the All American Diamond Belt tourney, whose finals will be conducted in the Boston Garden next month, about 3000 fans passed through the turnstiles. They were given a hectic night's entertainment.

SPECTATORS BATTLE

There were knockouts galore. There was more real fighting than

GO TO SLEEP MY BAB-Y-Y—Fred Earle, the slugger from down on the Cape, rocks Alphonse Brien of Lawrence to sleep in the second round of semi-final in 147 pound open in All-America elimination bouts at Arena. The Sagamore clouter went on to win from Win Hector in finals.

World's Champion Consults Foremost Hair Specialist

Casey to Use Sweep-Swinger On Yvon Robert

Sieve (Crusher) Casey, who proved Sunday on the Charles that the Caseys were among the best scullers in the world, will try to prove that they still rank with the world's wrestling greats tomorrow night when he ties into Yvon Robert in the feature bout of Paul Bowser's weekly show at the Arena.

Robert, like Casey a former world's champion, is among the front runners for a shot at the Angel's title because of his victory over Ed Don George here last week, and Casey is out to usurp Robert's spot in the sun.

"I'll give him the old sweep-swingers" said Sieve today. "Those months of rowing on the Charles have put me in the best physical trim of my career, and I'll prove it to Robert's chagrin tomorrow."

Tomorrow night's semi-final will bring out Joe Cox against Frank Judson, while preliminaries will include Leo Numa vs. Jim Wallis, Frank Beel vs. Jim Spencer and George Mansor vs. Albert Brown. Beel is a cousin of the famed Fred Beel who held the title years ago.

BOSTON, Nov. 11 (JW)—Ed Don George, world famous wrestler, learns how to hold his hair. Of course, being the leader in his field, he consults John E. Warner & Associates, the nation's leading hair and scalp specialists, as to the best method of improving and retaining his good head of hair. Business today places a high premium on personal appearance, and if you are losing your hair you should, in your own best interests, find out if John E. Warner can help you. Statistics show that 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. But John E. Warner will not accept any case for treatment where the applicant is bald or the hair is too far gone. There is no charge for a private consultation and scalp examination. His offices are conveniently located at 515 Washington Street, near the corner of West Street (opposite R. H. White's). Suite 710-715. Phone Hub. 1705. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M., daily—Saturdays to 6 P. M. Fees for treatment are moderate. There is a separate department for women.

Liner in Dash to Hub?

Manned and provisioned for departure from New York, the S. S. Queen Elizabeth, Britain's biggest ship, rests at her pier, her crew undergoing lifeboat drill. It was rumored the huge liner was to sail today... with stopover at Boston scheduled.

Gale Heads on Hub

Midwest is swept by gale, which official weather forecasters report is heading for Boston and New England... leaving a wide path of destruction in its wake. This recently completed house lies in ruins, destroyed by the 65-mile-an-hour wind as it tore through Chicago. Two men were injured in the collapse, while half a score more were reported killed in Illinois.
